VADIS?

At one time or another, all college students will ask the questions, "What am I doing here? Where am I going? What is my purpose? Is this the life I want to lead, and if so, what will it accomplish? Is college supposed to be four years of social life? What is a college education?
We all know that college is supposed to be our preparation for the world outside, but where does school spirit fit in? Why do students sit in a heavy snowfall just to watch a football game? Campus social life should help to make us well-rounded citizens — but why?"
In the following pages, we shall illustrate, by example, what MSC has done for others, and what it can do for you.
What you make of this opportunity is up to you.

Administration

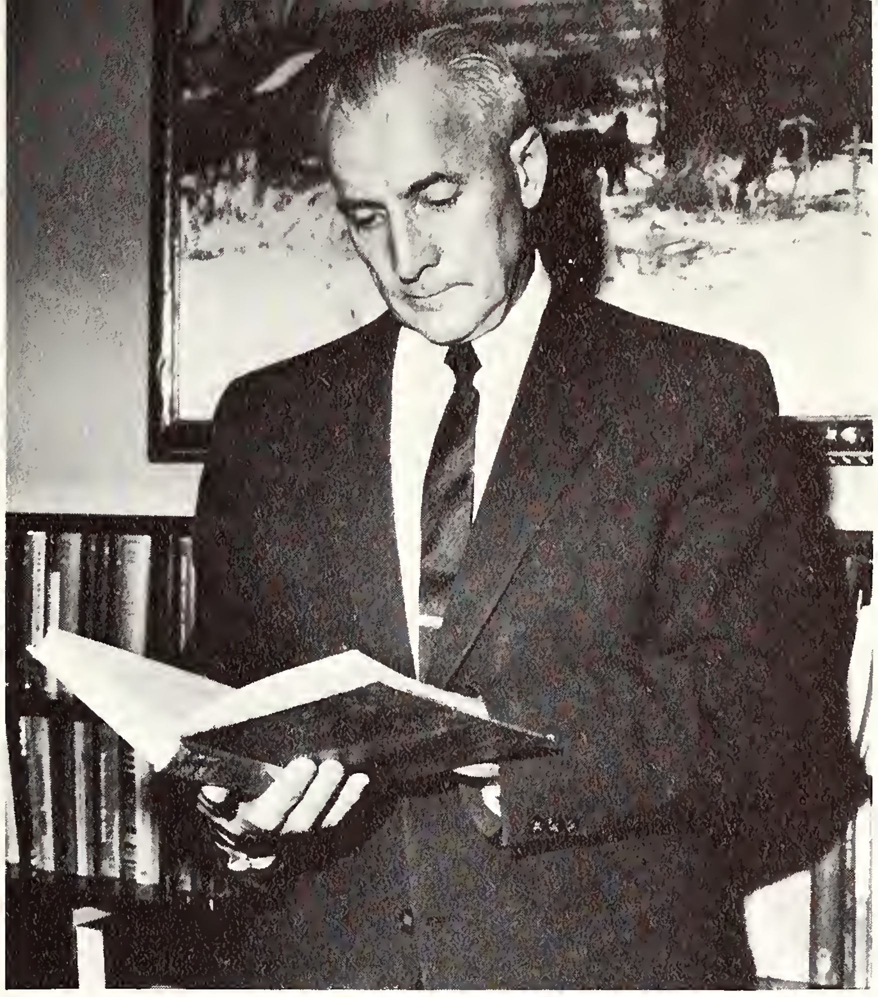
Efficient and capable leadership of the administration of Montana State College is best exemplified by the growing number of student applications. The tasks of an administrator are difficult and many times the criticism is greater than the praise. When choices and decisions have to be made, these people make them in the interests of the college, the student, and the state. Their decisions have made MSC more than a single unit of study for it now offers a well-rounded program of higher education for all.



President Renne

A moment of quiet reflective thought in a busy life.

Dedication

"An educated man is one who knows how to produce more than he consumes." Elbert Hubbard in writing the above few words may have been making reference to agricultural production or scientific and technical production. But to us, the students of Montana State College, Elbert Hubbard was unknowingly writing a character sketch and biography of our president, Doctor Roland R. Renne.

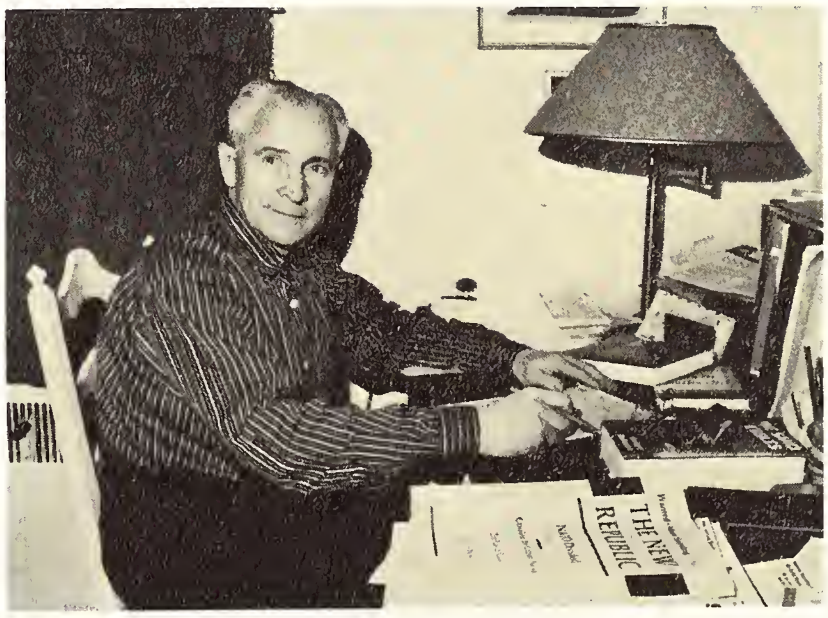
President Renne, a 1927 graduate of Rutgers University, went on to receive his advanced degrees from the University of Wisconsin; honorary advanced degrees from Rutgers, the University of the Phillipines and the National University of Asuncion in Paraguay.

On July 1, 1944 Roland R. Renne became president of Montana State College. He entered his first year as chief administrator with 219 faculty members, 69 county extension agents, 5 branch stations, 41 fields in which he could issue bachelor's degrees, 18 fields for masters' degrees and 1121 students. His first commencement saw 76 B.S. degrees and 1 M.S. degree granted. After 19 years of his administration we see there are now over 500 resident faculty members, 96 county extension agents and 7 branch stations. Degrees are offered in 28 undergraduate fields, 26 masters fields and 12 doctorate areas. Of the 4778 students enrolled last year, 689 received B.S. degrees, 121 obtained their M.S. degrees and 9 individuals were awarded their doctorate degrees.

We have seen the growth of a college and the hand of an able administrator guide this growth. President Renne has taken the agricultural and mechanical arts college of 19 years ago and molded it into a fine university with graduates in every walk of life throughout the United States. The true leadership of Dr. Renne has been evidenced countless times during the past years. Several times our state and nation have called upon him for his services, yet our college continued to grow and move forward. Some of his other assignments included serving as a visiting professor in Agricultural Economics, University of Chicago; a visiting professor of local government, Cornell University; State Price Officer, Montana Office of Price Administration; Chief, U.S. Technical and Economic Mission to the Phillipines; Chief, Agricultural Survey Mission to Peru; Joint International Bank for Reconstruction — FAO; and Development Consultant, U.S. Operations Mission to Ethiopia.

January of this year saw Dr. Renne take a one year leave of absence and accept a position in Washington, D.C. with the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Our students, our faculty and the people of Montana jealously wish that he were still here on campus and yet we all take pride in the fact that Dr. Renne, has once again been called upon to serve the people of his country.

To Dr. Roland R. Renne; a man with the highest of ideals; to a man who sets goals and objectives that seem impossible today only to realize them tomorrow; to a man who never lets political pressures overbalance his own personal principles of education and his responsibilities to them; to a man who can command the respect of student, teacher and taxpayer; and to the man who is best able to answer our question, "Quo Vadis?", we dedicate this book. . . .



Duties extend beyond the office.

Dean Brown

Dean of Women

Since her arrival at MSC ten years ago, Dean Esther Brown has served in the position of dean of women. Working closely with Associated Women Students, she helps establish the rules to be followed by MSC coeds. She received her B.A. in 1930 from the University of Washington, where she later earned her M.A. in 1932. Instrumental in the program of Women's Day, as well as in all activities which are relative to women students, she offers a ready ear and a natural interest in all those duties which fall under the administration of her respective office.

Dean of Students

Situated in the Student Welfare Office, Dean Val Glynn serves as a counselor in his capacity as dean of students. He graduated from MSC in 1928 and received his master of education degree from Montana State University in 1941. Presently he acts as advisor to Fangs, Septemviri, and Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honorary. Combining hard work with enthusiasm, he manages to fit into his duties the large job of finding housing for, as well as supervision of all men on campus.

Board of Education

Providing a program to meet the needs of the student as well as the people of Montana, the Board of Education, composed of the State Board of Education and the Ex-officio regents of the University of Montana, works for the betterment of Montana State College. This board decides policies, limitations and procedures to be followed by the college.

Always keeping the progress and advancement of MSC in mind, these two boards, along with the administration, provide a program of instruction, extension and research. Delegation of special duties to the local Executive Board is made by the State Board of Education, and members have general supervision over all state units.

Seated: Alfred Dubbe, Acting Executive Secretary, Helena; John E. O'Neill, Butte; Mrs. F. H. Petro, Miles City; Calvin S. Robinson Kalispell; George N. Lund, Reserve; Miss Harriet Miller, Superintendent of Public Instruction; Governor Tim Babcock, Attorney General Anderson, Dr. Earl Hall, Great Falls; Gordon Mullendore, Glendive; Dr. Gordon Doering, Helena; and Boynton G. Paige, Philipsburg.

Administrative Officers

Dean Gaines
Vice President

Serving as president of MSC in the absence of President Renne, Vice-President P.C. Gaines has a dual role to fill with his position as dean of faculty. He received his B.S. degree at Washington State College in 1919 and his M.S. degree in 1931. Coming to MSC in 1923, he served as a chemistry instructor; he was a professor of the department in 1946, assuming his present position of vice-president in 1945. Now, as in the past, Dean Gaines is once again showing his abilities as an advisor as well as a leader.

Contributing to the betterment of MSC through efficient organization and cooperation, the administrative officers strive for more beneficial ways of serving the individual student. The superintendent of the physical plant is responsible for road maintenance and campus construction. Public information about MSC in the form of newspapers, television, and radio releases is under the management of the director of information. Building plans are handled by the supervising architect, and eligibility of student applications is determined by the director of admissions. All business comes under the control of the business manager and treasurer, and the agricultural extension service is responsible for county extension agents. Well known to the student are the duties of the director of the SUB and the head librarian. And, in charge of registration, from the distribution of registration cards to the arranging of time schedules, is the registrar.

Student Leadership

STEERING COMMITTEE – Seated: Jack Sherrick, Wes Deitchler, Sharon Hill, Don Wolfe, Chairman; P. J. Hill, Stan Smith. Standing: Jim Nordahl.

We, the students of Montana State College of the Greater University of Montana, having rights to uphold and interests to promote, both for ourselves and the institution whereat we are gathered, acting upon the desire to uphold such rights and promote such interests in the most efficient and creditable manner, do organize ourselves as the Associated Students of Montana State College.

ASMSC Officers

Ed Harper
President

Ed, the genial president of ASMSC is a graduate student in education from Bozeman. Short in stature, but big in heart, he carries out the duties of his office with "vigor!"

Sandee, the cute little secretary of ASMSC hails from Great Falls. Her dark eyes and ready smile add life and humor to the senate office.

Sandee Quickenden
Secretary

Don Wolfe
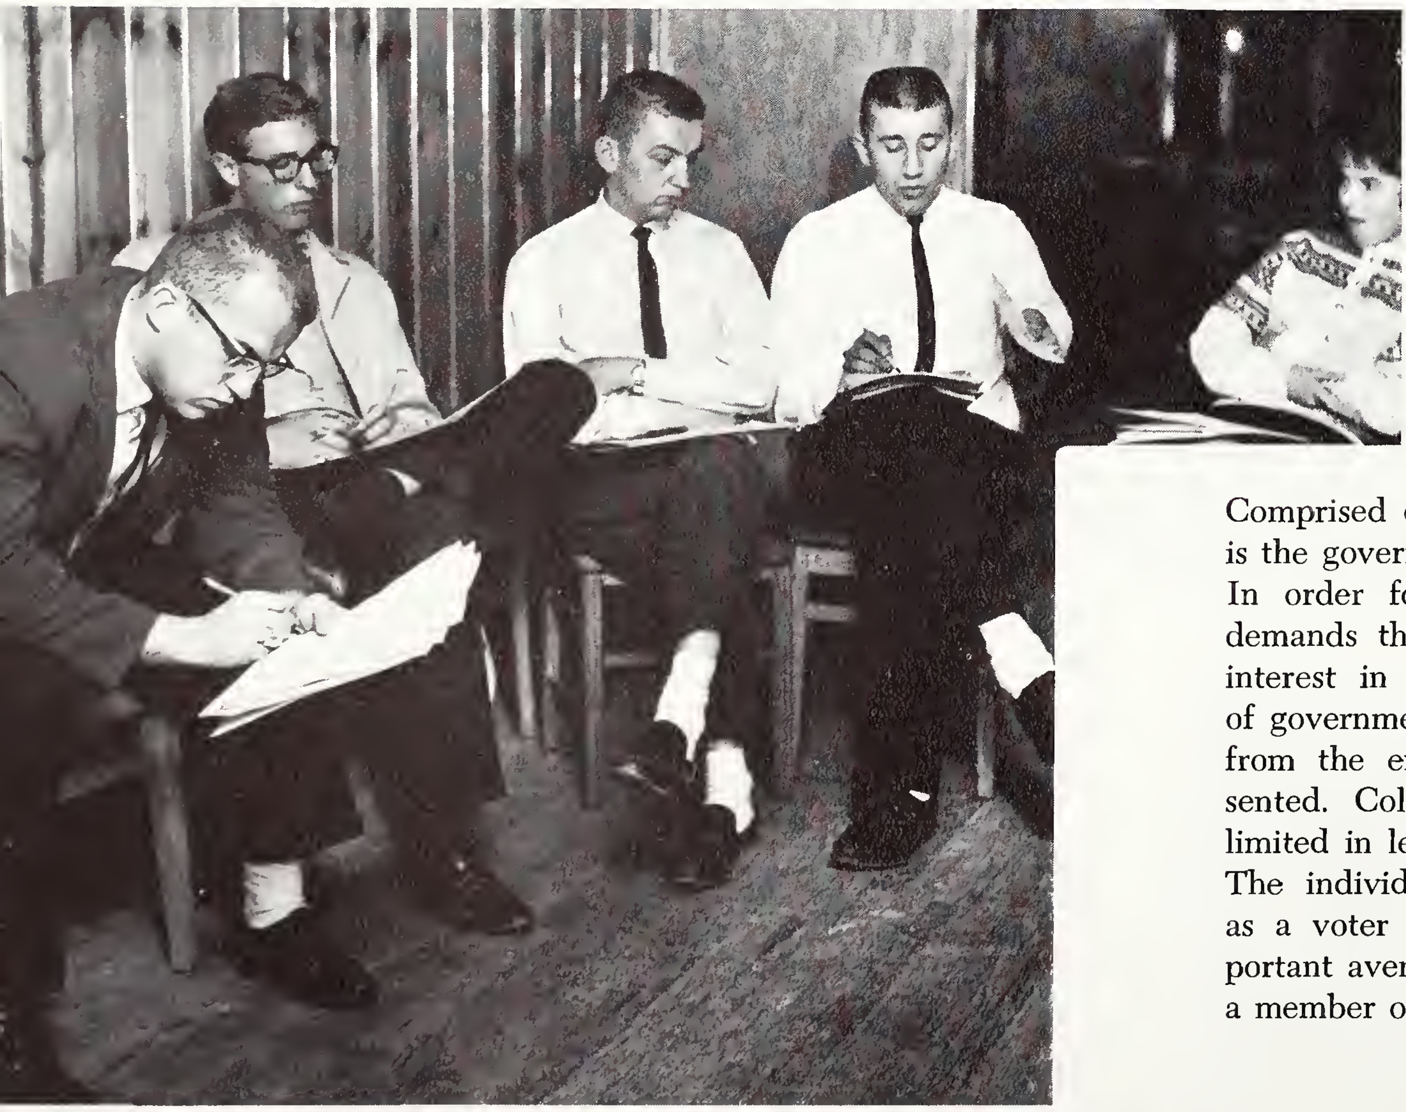
Vice-President

Don, the second in command of ASMSC comes from Hardin. A senior, majoring in general studies, he shows his wit and ability to debate in many ways.



The student activities program was the main topic of discussion at the Student Senate workshop in Ennis.

Comprised of the entire student body, ASMSC is the governing force in student administration. In order for its officers to be successful, it demands that all students take a vital, active interest in college affairs. As in other forms of government, it is essential that support come from the entire body of people being represented. College years offer opportunities unlimited in learning how a government operates. The individual student is important not only as a voter in student politics, but in the important avenues of participation open to him as a member of ASMSC.

Commissioners

Heading the most important boards in Student Senate, these twelve commissioners are chosen by an all school election during Spring quarter. These men and women are active in all voting, and represent the major interests on our campus, covering Publications and Athletics to Social Affairs and Traditions. Their total budget of approximately $130,000 is spent in furthering all aspects of campus activities.

Student Senate

Will this meeting please come to order! With this, the Student Senate begins another session. Its membership is comprised of voting and ex-officio members, who hold office for one full year, terminating with installation at the third regular meeting in May. Voting members are the vice-president, commissioners, class presidents, and greek and independent representatives, while the ex-officio senators represent publications, and organizations which receive funds from ASMSC. While in session, the Senate examines many widely varying topics ranging from the most serious discussions on budgets down to the more humorous aspects of campus life, including Speed E. Gator, the MSC alligator who captured first place in the National Alligator Race and brought fame to MSC.

AWS

Acting as a voice in all campus affairs, the Associated Women Students provides more extensive opportunities for MSC co-eds. In furtherance of this goal, they sponsor a "Big-Little Sister" program to orient freshmen women. Scholastic awards, honors, and the five-year speaker are announced at their traditional Women's Day. Presided over by Betty Bruckner, the officers are chosen by an all-women vote.

MRA

Dorm life is made more pleasurable through the actions of the Men's Resident Association. This group handles disciplinary problems through their judiciary system, counsels the large number of freshmen and sophomore men who are housed in the dorms, and acts as a governing body. Composed of floor presidents, elected by their respective floors, MRA was instrumental in instituting co-educational eating between the men's and women's dorms. The success of this program was one step toward the achievement of their goal to provide better inter-dorm relationships.

Classes

To you, the student, we pose the question: Quo Vadis?

To you, standing at the foot of the steps to higher learning: What are your goals?

To you, ready to climb another step higher: Are you sure of where you're going?

To you, who are nearing the pinnacle of success: Will you make it?

And to you, who have climbed to the last step and the end of your college career: Are you ready to face the future?

Yes, to you the individual student, we ask: Are you making use of the great wealth put before you, to prepare you, and to make you ready? We challenge you! Can you answer these questions?

Henry Robinson

Class of '32

"Farming is a business and should be run as a business," advocates Henry Robinson, vocational agriculture instructor in the Flathead County High School for the past twenty years. Entering Montana State College in 1928, he majored in agricultural education, was a member of the Golden Bobcat basketball team, and was elected to Alpha Zeta, agricultural honorary. Following his graduation in 1932, he taught vocational agriculture in Harlowtown, Montana until 1937. Then he moved to Kalispell, taking over the vocational agriculture department of the high school and building the FFA program into one of the most outstanding in the United States, winning the coveted Gold Emblem of the Future Farmers of America 19 times.

Henry Robinson is an invaluable aid in helping his students get started as full-fledged farmers, encouraging the value of bank loans in achieving independence. He explains this partly through his faith in "plain dirt," urging his boys to use their soil to its greatest extent. After he received his M.S. in Agricultural Engineering and Education from Michigan State, he put his ideas into practice. Taking worn-out soil and a few hard-working students, he transformed the Kalispell valley into one of the major producers of certified seed in the nation.

Robinson was awarded an Honorary Farmer Degree in 1943, was president of the Montana Vocational Association in 1947 and secretary-treasurer from 1955 to 1957, and in 1956 received a write-up in "Reader's Digest." He is assistant principal of Flathead County High School, head of its vocational department, and a member of the Agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce. After 31 years of teaching vocational agriculture, Henry Robinson is going stronger than ever.

Upon graduation in Agricultural Education from Montana State College in 1922, S. S. Sutherland entered that field in South Dakota. After receiving his Masters degree from Iowa State College in 1928, he joined the staff at MSC, and became professor and head of Agricultural Education. One year later he joined the staff of the University of California, Davis, and since that time has served there as director of teacher training in ag education.

In 1922 Sutherland initiated the cadet program of teacher education on the campus of the University of California, Davis. This program is still in operation in much the same form as originally conceived, and now, after 30 years, 45% of the participants of the program are still in teaching, and less than 5% are in non-agricultural positions; the others are in college or university teaching, school administration, state supervisory positions, or in related agriculture. He was instrumental in work underlying the granting of the Master of Education degree which was initiated in 1945.

While at Montana State College, Sutherland was active in extra-curricular activities, participating in track, baseball, and dramatics. He was class secretary his junior year, on student senate as a senior, and is a member of Omega Beta fraternity (now Phi Sigma Kappa).

Professor Sutherland has had many books and articles published. Among them is "When You Preside," a book in its second edition and fifth printing, now recognized nationwide in the field of group leadership, and being used by nearly all FFA chapters throughout the U.S. as a guide to parliamentary procedure.

A 1927 honor graduate in science, John Morrison was a member of Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi, Scabbard and Blade, and Sigma Chi. After graduation, he served as instructor of civil engineering at MSC and received his professional degree in that field in 1931. He was employed by the bridge department of the Montana Highway Commission in 1930, serving as chief bridge designer and plans engineer from 1935-45. In 1945, he entered private practice and since 1946, has been associated with the firm of Morrison-Maierle, Inc. He is licensed to practice as a professional engineer in Montana, Idaho, Oregon, and North Dakota, and is a recognized architect in Montana. A member of the Montana State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors, he served as chairman in 1957 and 1961, and was a Member of the Civil Engineer Registration Board from 1947 to 1957, and its chairman in 1947.

John Morrison--Class of '27

Morrison has served as president of the Montana Section of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Consulting Engineers Association of Montana, and Montana Section of the American Water Works Association. He was also a member of the Montana Society of Engineers and the Society of American Registered Architects and has served on many national committees of engineering. He is a director of the Commerce Bank and Trust in Helena, past director of its Chamber of Commerce, and Vice-President of the Montana State College Alumni Association, playing an active part in the Lewis and Clark Chapter.

Known affectionately as "Herm" to his co-workers at the Grange Company in Modesto, California, where he is President and Director of Research, Dr. H. J. Almquist is a pioneer in the use of antibiotic and high efficiency feeds. A chemistry graduate from MSC in 1925, he was a member of Alpha Phi and Phi Kappa Phi, receiving an honorary doctorate in 1952. He received his Ph.D. from the University of California in 1932, was an assistant and associate professor of agriculture there from 1932 to 1944, Director of the F.E. Booth Company, Inc. in 1944, and assumed his present job as Director of the Annual Reviews, Inc. A member of many scientific societies, Almquist was given the Borden Award in 1939, and served as advisor to various national committees of nutrition and feed research.

H. J. Almquist--Class of '25

In addition to editing 169 publications, Almquist's work includes: mechanism of the reaction between oxygen and benzaldehyde, auto-oxidation and oxidation inhibitors, independent discovery of Vitamin K and $K_1$, development of the protein quality index for animal feeds, discovery of the essential nature of arginine for the chick and the semi-essential nature of glycerine, the first estimations of quantitative amino acid requirements of chicks and farm animals, demonstration of the magnesium requirements of chicks and methods of analysis and interpretation of nutritional data. With all his work, Almquist still finds time for his two sons, furniture making, boat building, fishing and hunting, stamp collecting, and the Kiwanis Club, Boy Scouts, and Junior Rifle Club.

Graduating in architecture from MSC in 1927, Rhea Esgar was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and worked for a local architect on campus development. He received his Master's Degree in Architecture at Harvard in 1930, where he was associated with a Boston firm and identified with Harvard University, New York Hospital and Cornell Medical College, Massachussetts General Hospital and Rockefeller Institute of Plant Pathology. The Second World War saw him as chief architect and site designer of war construction, and following the war, he took charge of the architectural work for Logan International Airport in Boston. He joined his present firm in 1937 and it became Dunlap and Esgar in 1952. His research and development laboratories for the Portland Cement Association was given an "Award of Honor" for meritorious design by the Chicago Chapter of the American Institute of Architects. Because of the wide variety of his work, he is licensed in over 20 states and registered with the National Council of Architectural Registration boards.

R. Rhea Esgar--Class of '27

Esgar is now in his second term as President of the American Institute of Architects in Chicago, interested in urban and city planning, state and national legislative matters, and conservation and education; chairman of student architectural prizes at the Illinois University of Technology and the University of Illinois; treasurer of the "Robie House Fund"; and a director of the Chicago Chapter Foundation and Edgewater Community Council. In addition to his many duties, he still finds time for sculpture and painting.

Senior Class Officers

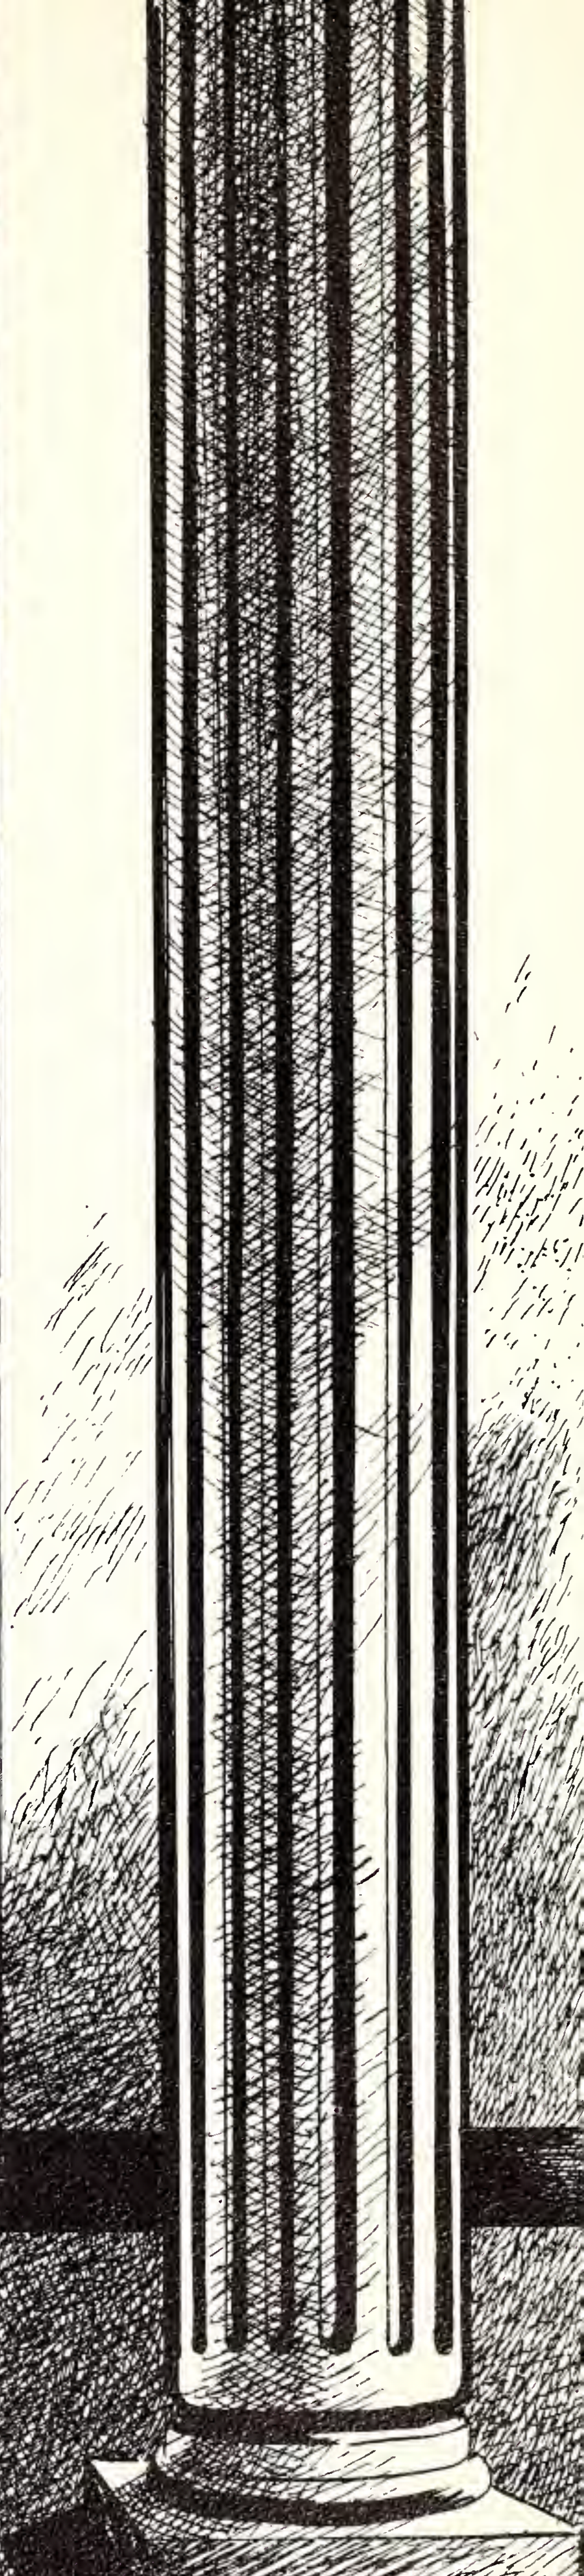
SENIOR OFFICERS – Clockwise, starting from 12:00: Jack Sherick, President; Hal Nelson, Vice-President; Sandee Quickenden, Secretary; Betsy Ross, Co-Social Chairman; Jack Cochrane, Co-Social Chairman; Shirley Sorenson, Treasurer.



Seniors – that select group, respected by the Freshmen, envied by the Sophomores, and tolerated by the Juniors. Everyone wants to be a member of that noble class, but it takes plenty of hard work and courage to struggle through those first three long years. Some put forth more effort than others and are therefore more deserving of the rewards which are available. The responsibility of leading the Seniors falls to only a few – those chosen as Senior Class Officers. On the basis of leadership and personality, they are chosen to supervise, direct, and plan the activities of those who have completed the most important step on their road to success.

Nurses

From the moment of enrollment as green freshmen, student nurses commence to follow in the footsteps of thousands of women who have trod the road of nursing for hundreds of years before them. During their college years, this winding path takes the nurses through such courses as nutrition, chemistry, sociology, and nursing arts. They learn everything from burping babies to chemical equations; from writing an English composition to learning a whole new medical vocabulary. The path is fascinating, fun, gripping, satisfying, ever-changing and ever-expanding because nurses work with those intricate mechanisms called people. To understand people and to endeavor to help them lead useful and productive lives is the aim of a nurse. People are their joy, challenge and reason for being.

Billings Deaconess Hospital

Juniors at Billings Deaconess hold the coveted position of having twelve o'clock hours on week nights. This honor among others, is bestowed upon them winter quarter of their Sophomore year.

Upon returning to the main campus for her two quarters before practicing under a public health nurse, the Junior finds it hard to adjust to burglar alarms and student counselors since both are absent at Billings.

The nurses also miss the faculty of 100 doctors (all married) who provide various functions for the students such as trips to Wyoming and Red Lodge, card parties, and CARE packages to them while they spend a quarter at Warm Springs. The Junior nurse fills her mind with happy memories of Billings Deaconess and looks ahead to a path rapidly coming to an end — that of her college career.

Sophomores

It seems that every class of entering sophomores is fascinated by the practical jokes that can be played with the help of Mr. Chase. Mrs. Whitworth will never stop wondering why everyone thinks of putting him in the housemother's bathroom. It's quite a surprise to see a man in there even if he is a model for the Nursing Arts lab. Just off the main campus, the student nurse finds a few minor adjustments to be made. It's rather different to call out without having to pay a dime and also to find a small kitchen in the basement completely stocked with food for those ever-demanding snacks.

But doesn't the social life drag? Not much! The student body sponsors dances and invites the men from both Eastern and Rocky Mountain Colleges to attend.

"And then, Papa Bear said, "My porridge is cold!"

From textbooks to hospitals is the path which awaits the nursing student — a path already well-trodden by the junior nurse in her quest for an Associate Degree in Nursing. Her first year is spent on the main campus in preparation for the four quarters she will spend at the hospital and the one quarter spent in psychiatric nursing at Warm Springs. After meeting these requirements she will return to the campus for two more quarters before she practices her skill under a public health nurse either in Montana or in one of the four Utah stations. Her last two quarters of training are spent at the hospital, after which she returns to campus only to receive that treasured diploma which reads . . . Bachelor of Science.

The old, memory-filled dorm, long a familiar sight at the Montana Deaconess Hospital, is now being replaced by a new residence hall. The sophomore nurse has the big move from home campus behind her, and now she faces an entirely new situation, with a few exceptions. She has the same dorm hours and a house mother — two familiar aspects of main campus life.

The classrooms, labs, and cafeteria are all in the same building, and the classes, although closer together, constitute one to three hour labs for every credit or twenty-five hours per week. Classes vary in subject from pharmacology to nursing art. Most of the sophomore nurse's time is spent with Mrs. Chase, who teaches the fundamentals of hospital technique. This includes making beds, applying dressings, giving shots, and taking samples. Every girl becomes well acquainted with Mrs. Chase because she is the nursing arts lab model.

What is a junior? . . . A junior is an optimist, strong with hope, trust, and power that three years have bestowed upon him. He is the object of many an admiring eye — from the freshman, looking to the future with persistent ambition, to the sophomore, who views him with a renewed faith, and to the senior, who sees him as but a memory. With his senior year ahead of him, he is confident of his future and the goals he plans to achieve.

Where is he going? . . . After patiently waiting, the junior is ready to assume his role of leadership — cautiously — with eager anticipation — he forges ahead — unaware of what the future holds — but prepared to meet its many challenges. His future may lie in holding a political office or standing up for a belief. Whatever he chooses, success is his to master. QUO VADIS ?

What is a sophomore? . . . A sophomore is that rare combination of last year's freshman and tomorrow's junior. Gone are the days of being shy, confused, and homesick; gone are the days of wearing the green beanie. In their place, are days filled with committee work, meetings, homework, social functions and carefree hours. Confidence is the byword; to get ahead is the motto.

Where is he going? . . . With the past behind him, the sophomore looks intently at the future. He hurries toward his goal, only to be stopped – to think – to calculate – and – to try again. Confident, knowing that the future is his, he is ready to face the two years ahead, which offer fulfillment of every aspect of college life – social, political, and academic. The challenge is his for the taking. QUO VADIS?

What is a freshman? He is wide of eye and wandering, constantly running into new experiences in his search for acceptance. The painting of the "M", the beanies, the frosh-soph scrap, and many other events lend and blend into the experience of a lifetime. Where is he going? The frosh soon forms associations which will become the building stones for his entire college career, and possibly for his entire life. He begins to use his potential to further himself and his education. The Freshman holds the key to the future. QUO VADIS?

John J. "Jim" Travis, a 1942 graduate in agricultural education, has devoted much of his time to the service of his country and Montana State College. While in college he was a member of Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Zeta, Intercollegiate Knights, Little International Chairman, Men's Chairman of High School Week, Bookstore Board Chairman, and Student Senate. A member of Advanced R.O.T.C. and Scabbard and Blade, he went into the Army as a 2nd Lieutenant following graduation and served three years in the African, Sicilian, and European campaigns. Discharged in October, 1945, as a Captain, he received the Silver Star, Bronze Star with oak leaf cluster, and Combat Infantry Badge. Then he served a short time as assistant county agent in Bozeman and one year as County Extension Agent of Powell County at Deer Lodge. In December, 1946, he joined a branch of the Graybar Electric Company, becoming outside salesman in 1949. His work is education and service — keeping business firms and architects informed of the latest developments in lighting and wiring and supplying them with bids and materials needed.

Jim Travis--Class of '42

A solid citizen and family man, he was active in Lions Club, helping with such projects as re-roofing cabins at Girl Scout Camp, and building facilities for picnic areas outside Butte. Bowling with Butte Lodge No. 22, A.F.& M., is but a facet of his avid interest in sports, as he is also an enthusiastic hunter, fisherman, golfer, and M.S.C. sports fan. He is currently president of the M.S.C. Alumni Association. He strives to keep the alumni in closer touch with their alma mater. He has kept an active interest in the affairs of the college and has aided the drive to enlist alumni support for the development of MSC.

Student Life

From that first hectic week, the new student at college wonders if he will ever accomplish all that is expected of him — the traditions that must be learned; the activities in which the older student urges him to participate; and most important of all, the scholarship that must be maintained. Participation in activities demonstrates to him the leadership role that a college graduate is expected to perform in the modern world. A more balanced individual — this is the purpose of an education. In the following pages we show the student, his activities, and his life as he continues to answer the question QUO VAUDIS?

Fall Quarter . . .

We fill out 101 cards and have to sort them besides!

"Coupons please!" The Freshman hears this phrase many times as he hurries through the activities of Orientation Week. By the end of the week, when he decides that things couldn't get much worse, he is confronted with that organized confusion known as registration. Then, after a few weeks of serious thought, the Freshman becomes acquainted with one of MSC's older traditions — M-Day. On this day, the "M" is given a new coat of whitewash and the Freshman is allowed to throw away his beanie if his class defeats the sophomores in the Frosh-Soph scrap.

. . . must come down.

What goes up . . .

The largest Saturday crowds ever cheered the Bobcats on to a winning season.

Close to Nature!

Fall quarter is the time to have fun outdoors. Studying on the wide expanses of the lawns, election of class officers, Greek rush, and the many other social functions initiate the student into the whirl of college life. This is a busy quarter, and the wise student soon learns that he must budget his time if he is to accomplish all that he wishes to do.

A record number of students participated in Greek rush.

Homecoming, with all of its pageantry, begins the social life at MSC. Many hours of frantic work is spent building floats for the parade, and the students lay aside their books for a weekend of fun. This year Maxine Manning was chosen as queen to reign over the Homecoming festivities. Louie Armstrong provided the entertainment in place of the traditional variety show, and Les and Larry Elgart played to a capacity house at the Homecoming Ball.

Favorites to Win, Bobcats Upset by Grizzlies

As a successful Bobcat football team continued to rack up one victory after another, an appreciative student body prepared for the annual Bobcat-Grizzly game to be held at the dancing school this year. For some Freshmen students the ride to Missoula on the Les Bouffon's "SPECIAL TRAIN" was their first look at true Bobcat spirit; for some Seniors it was their last opportunity to live it up and give their support to the Cats. The final score of the game was a heart-breaker but the sportsmanlike conduct of the team and fans alike proved that MSC still has some of the best athletes and students this state will ever see.

It was a gloomy nite but a very spirited bunch of Bobcat fans who boarded the "Special" for Bozeman.

Sigma Nu's helped to set up the downtown Christmas decorations.

Who turned the thermostat down?

After a longer than usual Christmas vacation students returned to campus to find a blanket of white. Recorded as one of the severest winters in history, everyone looked to the time when they would don lighter clothing and return to the outdoors. In the meantime long hours were spent in the SUB sipping cokes, cramming for that two o'clock quiz, discussing last night's dates, telling fellow students how to "sack" an A from certain instructors, and trying to figure the odds on the many queen contests that would occur during this cold but busy quarter. In short, winter quarter was the time when every effort was made to earn a passing grade in that no credit, non-sectioned course known as Subology.

A record number of students enrolled in Subology 500 this quarter.

Winter Carnival

For the first time in many years the weatherman co-operated with the MSC Ski Club and the Bozeman Chamber of Commerce and gave them the essentials for a successful Winter Carnival. At times the temperature was well below zero and the snow was three feet deep but this never seemed to dampen the enthusiasm and spirit exhibited by this year's students and townspeople. Fraternities and sororities built their traditional snow sculptures, Independents and Greeks alike participated in ski races, children competed in snowman contests, and merchants sponsored special sales and a pancake feast to make this year's Carnival the best yet.

Religious Emphasis Week

Speakers can often be found engaged in informal discussions with inquisitive students.

Hundreds of interested students attended the concluding banquet in honor of the Week's speakers.

In the rush of college life, many students do not devote time to the spiritual aspect of their lives. Religious Emphasis Week is set aside each year in order that students may have an opportunity to evaluate their lives according to the codes of right conduct. Many talks and discussion groups conducted by various speakers attempt to tie the goals of higher education with those of everyday life. Non-sectarian in nature, REW does much to increase the student's awareness of the importance of morality.

Dr. Halvorson discusses "Man's Relationship to God" in one of his classroom lectures.

You have been what during the last six months?

"I may not be running a temperature but my heart is skipping a couple of beats right now."

Red Cross Receives 685 Pints of Blood

So that someone else may live, MSC students again pulled together in giving 125 pints of blood more than their quota. Under the direction of Mike Nash, our college not only donated more blood than our sister institution over the hill but they also set a new all school record of 685 pints donated. Much credit must go to the various living groups who donated so much of their time as voluntary workers during the three day drawing and also made the competitive events the success that they were. Congratulations go to members of Phi Sigma Kappa and residents of Hamilton Hall for the highest percentage of their membership donating to this worthy cause.

Ten percent of our student body had A negative blood while the other ninety percent had 86 proof.

Pi Week

In addition to the usual fun and gaiety, winter quarter activities contained a note of seriousness. As do many of the Greek organizations, the Pi Phis sent the proceeds of their Derby Dance to support their philanthropic project. Pi Week, featuring pie eating contests and the selection of a queen is sponsored annually by the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. All of the contributions, this year totaling $1300, went to the March of Dimes.

Larry Marcott, Montana's champion laundronaut said to KBMN announcer Bob Towe, "1452 times I went round and round and . . ."

The long months of winter were not without their lighter moments, however. Construction of a long disputed bookcase and a ride in a clothes-dryer topped the list of individual performances during the quarter. Professional entertainment reached its peak with the appearance of noted folk singer Josh White and the incomparable Chad Mitchell Trio. Numerous student groups provided activities for those wishing a more diversified education, among them MUN.

MSC students participated in Model United Nations activities at San Jose State College.

Joan Brickley Becomes Miss MSC

On the basis of her poise, talent, and beauty, Jo Brickley was chosen as Miss MSC for '63 at the pageant held in the SUB. For the first time, Bozeman residents were able to view the pageant as the Film and Television department, through closed circuit TV, offered complete coverage of the finals.

Judy Lohr – 1963 La Reine.

Hannon Hall bids on a Roman orgy.

Auctioneers Terry Mero and Don Wolfe kept the bidding active as the Chinese Auction netted a sizeable sum for the AWS scholarship fund, from which needy women students can obtain loans. Such items as a day in the hills, Roman orgies, steak fries, and other parties are offered for sale by the various living groups on campus. To serve as queen of their events for the coming year, the Les Bouffons chose Judy Lohr of the Pi Beta Phi sorority as "La Reine".

Competing in chariot racing, tug-of-wars, arm wrestling, and many other events, all of the houses vied for top honors during Greek Week. The Sig Alph Olympics provided an afternoon of entertainment for the men on campus as the coeds competed for top honors in such events as greased pig-catching, tricycle races, egg-tossing, and running an obstacle course.

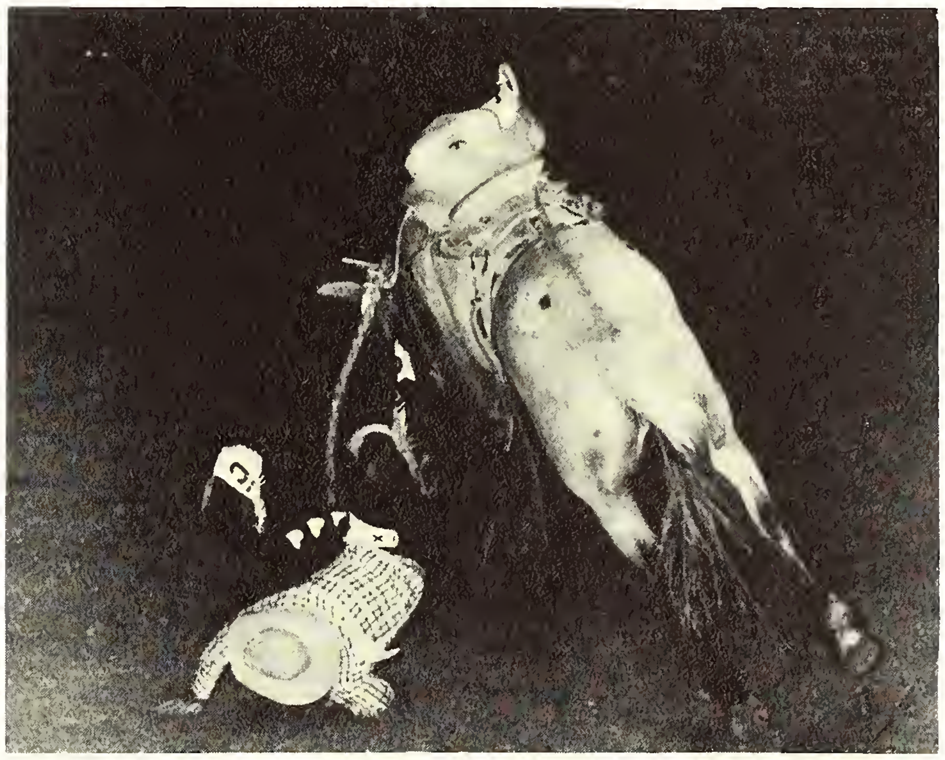
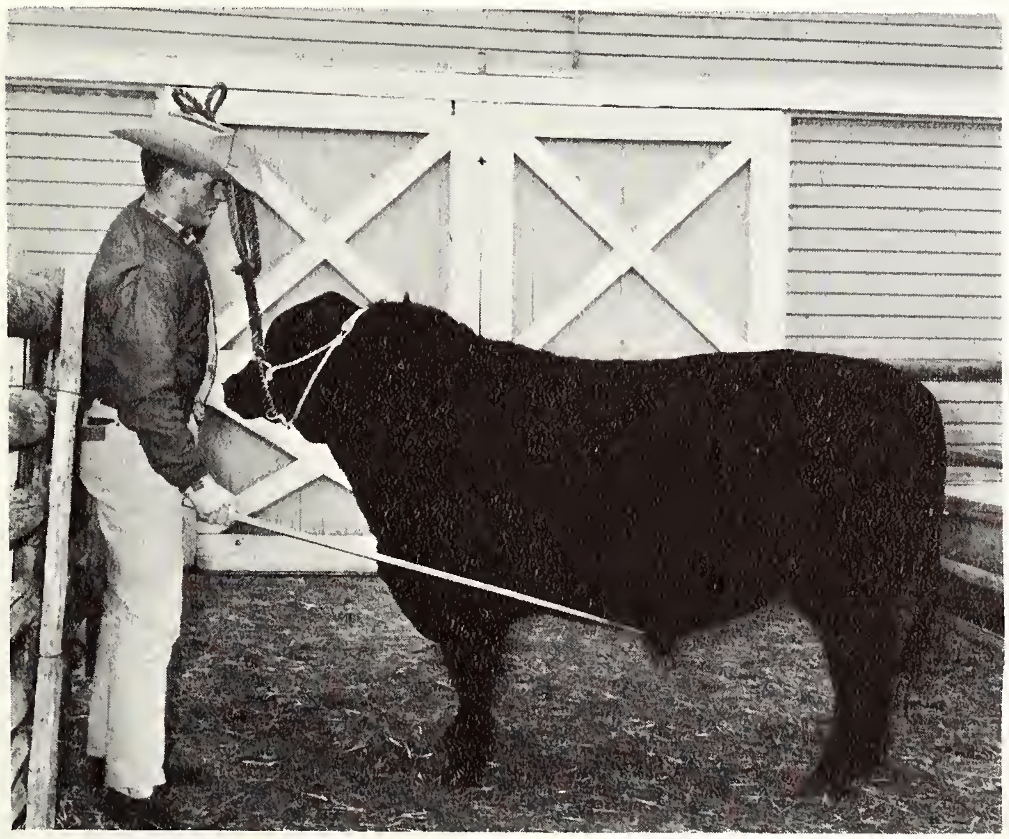
Bulldogging can be fun, that is if you don't get too deeply involved.



We cowboys never lose our hats.



Good showmanship requires many long hours of practice.

Under the leadership of Bill Chiesa, the Little International again proved to be a success as students learned the art of showing and caring for animals. Sponsored by the Ag Club, the show also allowed students to compete for scholarships. The rodeo was one of the best in years, as the stock made things hard for the cowboys. Thrills and spills kept the spectators well entertained.

Livestock Team

MSC's livestock judging team placed high among the seventeen collegiate teams entered in this year's National Western Livestock Show in Denver, Colorado. At the conclusion of the two day judging event the team had picked up a second place in quarter horse judging and a fifth place in beef judging competition. In the overall individual competition Bill Hodgins placed ninth in beef judging and Kent Norby was eleventh in car lot judging.

Judging Teams

Participation in judging contests prepares many of these men for future careers in agriculture as well as providing them with an opportunity to meet and compete with outstanding aggies in the various competitive events.

Dairy Team

Entered in judging competition at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland, Oregon; individual members exhibited outstanding performance and promise in placing the MSC entry in the top seven at the show. Individual team member Lee Hart placed tenth in the competition among judges in the all breeds class.

Wool Team

The Montana State College wool judging team won third place at the National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colorado this year to place above all other judging teams entered from the Rocky Mountain region. The team, both individually and as a group did very well, with the team placing first in the Columbia breed class, and Don Stroud placing fifth over all individuals judging in the contest.

Range Plant Team

At the American Society of Range Management meeting in Rapid City, South Dakota, the range team competed in a contest arranged and set up by a professional society. Hard work by the members provided them with a chance to compete in a meet that tested their knowledge of botany and plant physiology, the two areas that a judge must thoroughly understand before he can judge range plants.

Bill Handl, Jack Reitz, John Taylor, Coach; Vic Rue, LeRoy Panasuk.

Dramatics

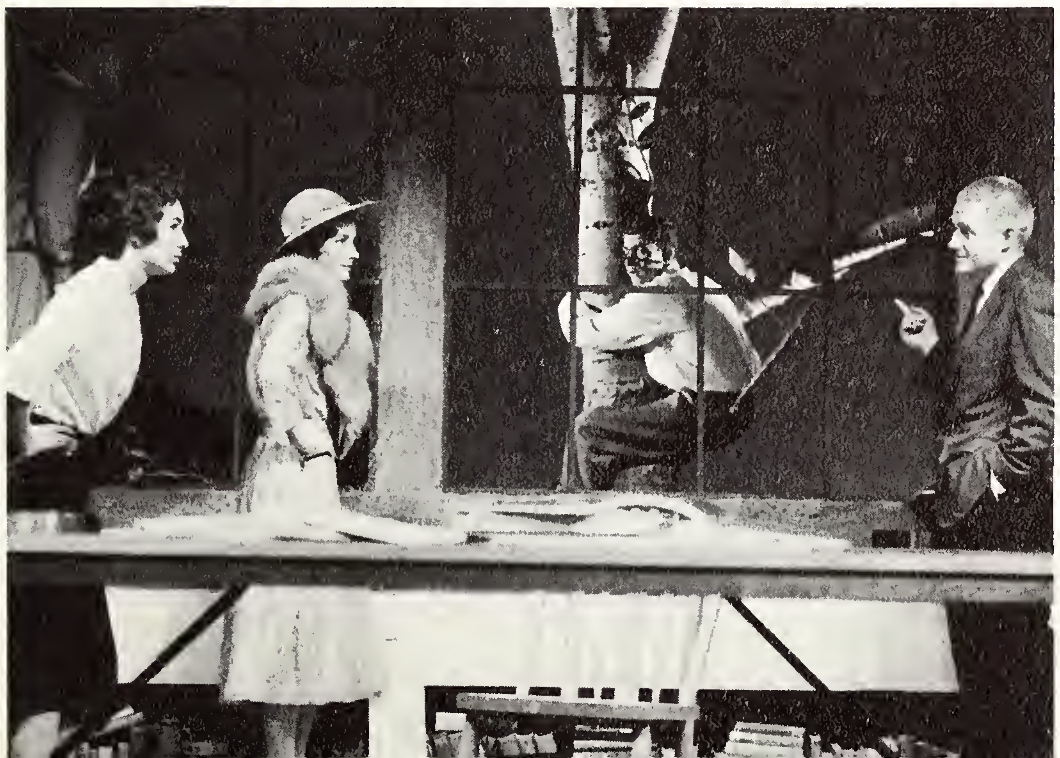
Many times, people have the desire to be someone other than themselves. Drama allows an individual to project himself into the role of another person, to live and think as that person would. Drama also gives workers the opportunity to create the settings and the mood through the use of lights and props. In the final presentation, the actor, playing specifically to one member of the audience is able to read the quality of his performance, for which he has spent many hours. If he successfully depicts the character for whom he was chosen, the actor has accomplished his specific purpose or function — interpretation and dramatization.

The director Mr. Joe Fitch often appears in the productions.

Sign, yes I want to enroll in Animal Husbandry!

Let 'Em Eat Steak was the first freshman production to be staged at M.S.C. This play also had the honor of opening the 1962-63 season. It was a light comedy about a campus feud between the protagonistic professor, played by Pat Lueck. He is determined to keep his office and position on campus without a research program. With the help of his secretary, played by Mary Kay Hardestry, the comics elements of the story unfold.

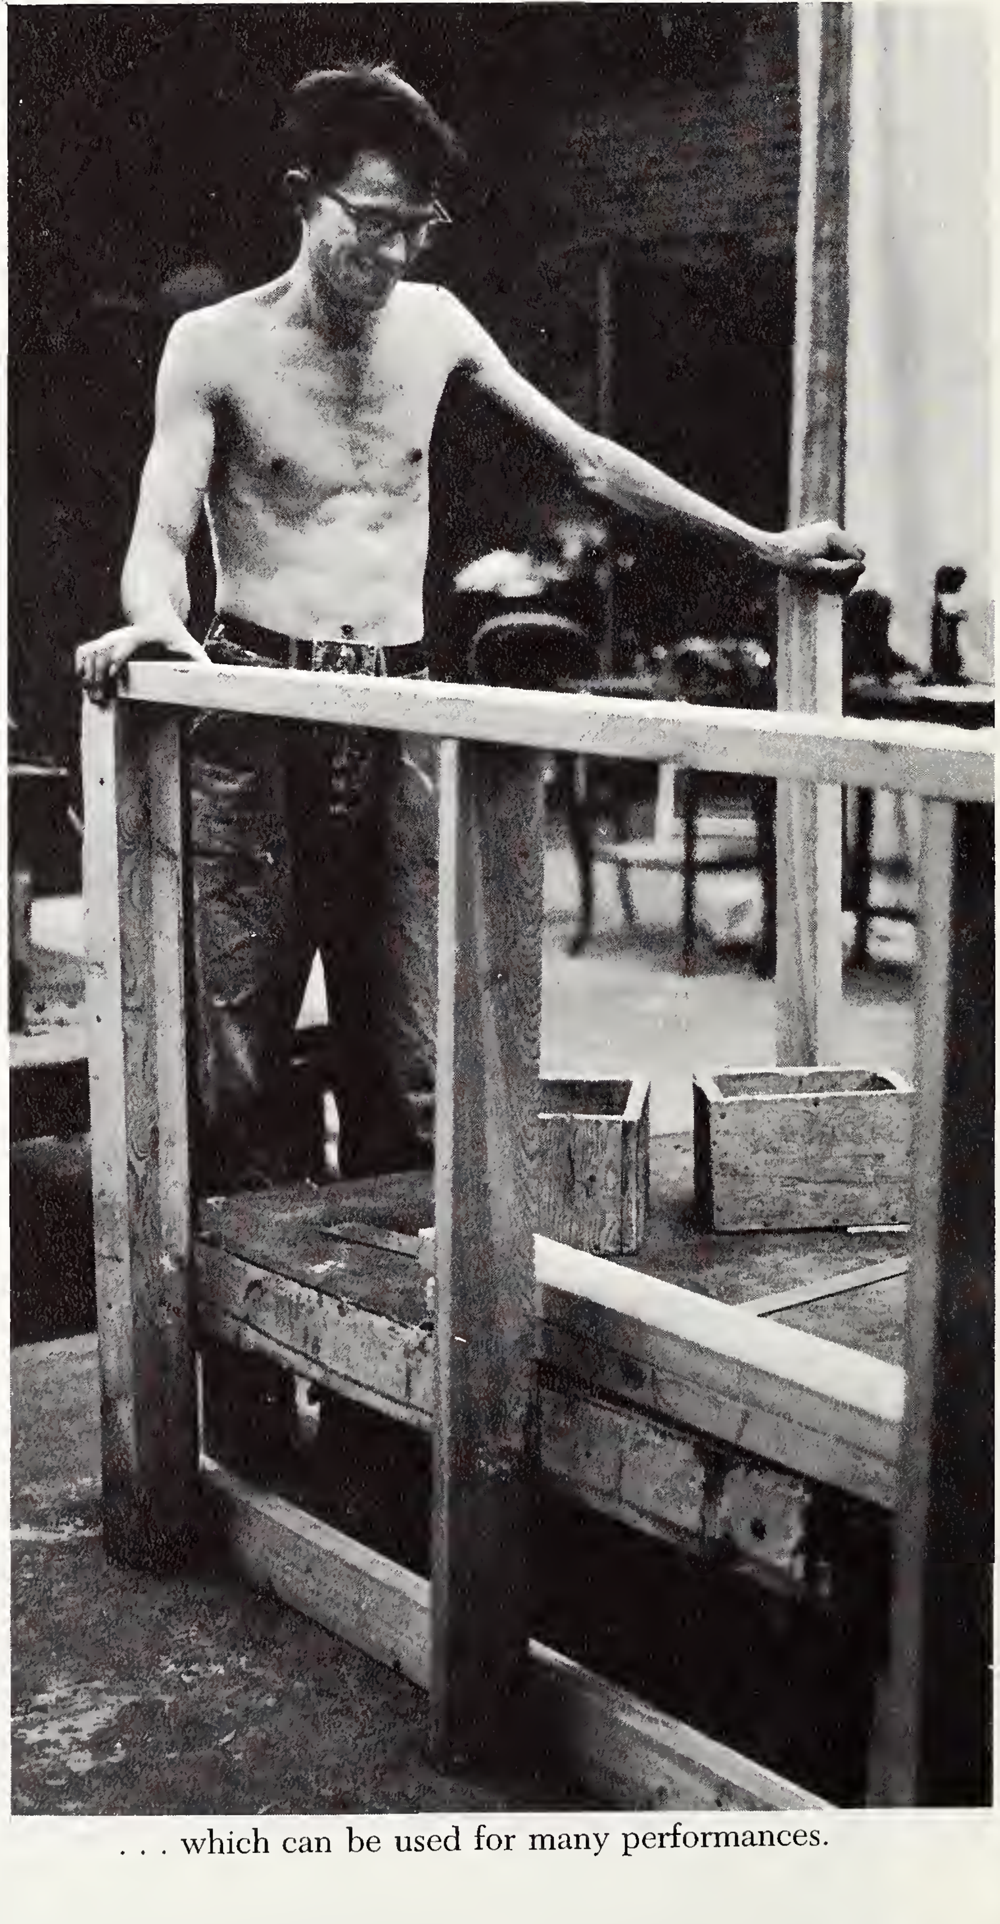


You say a bull chased him up a tree?

But Professor, I want to be in your class.

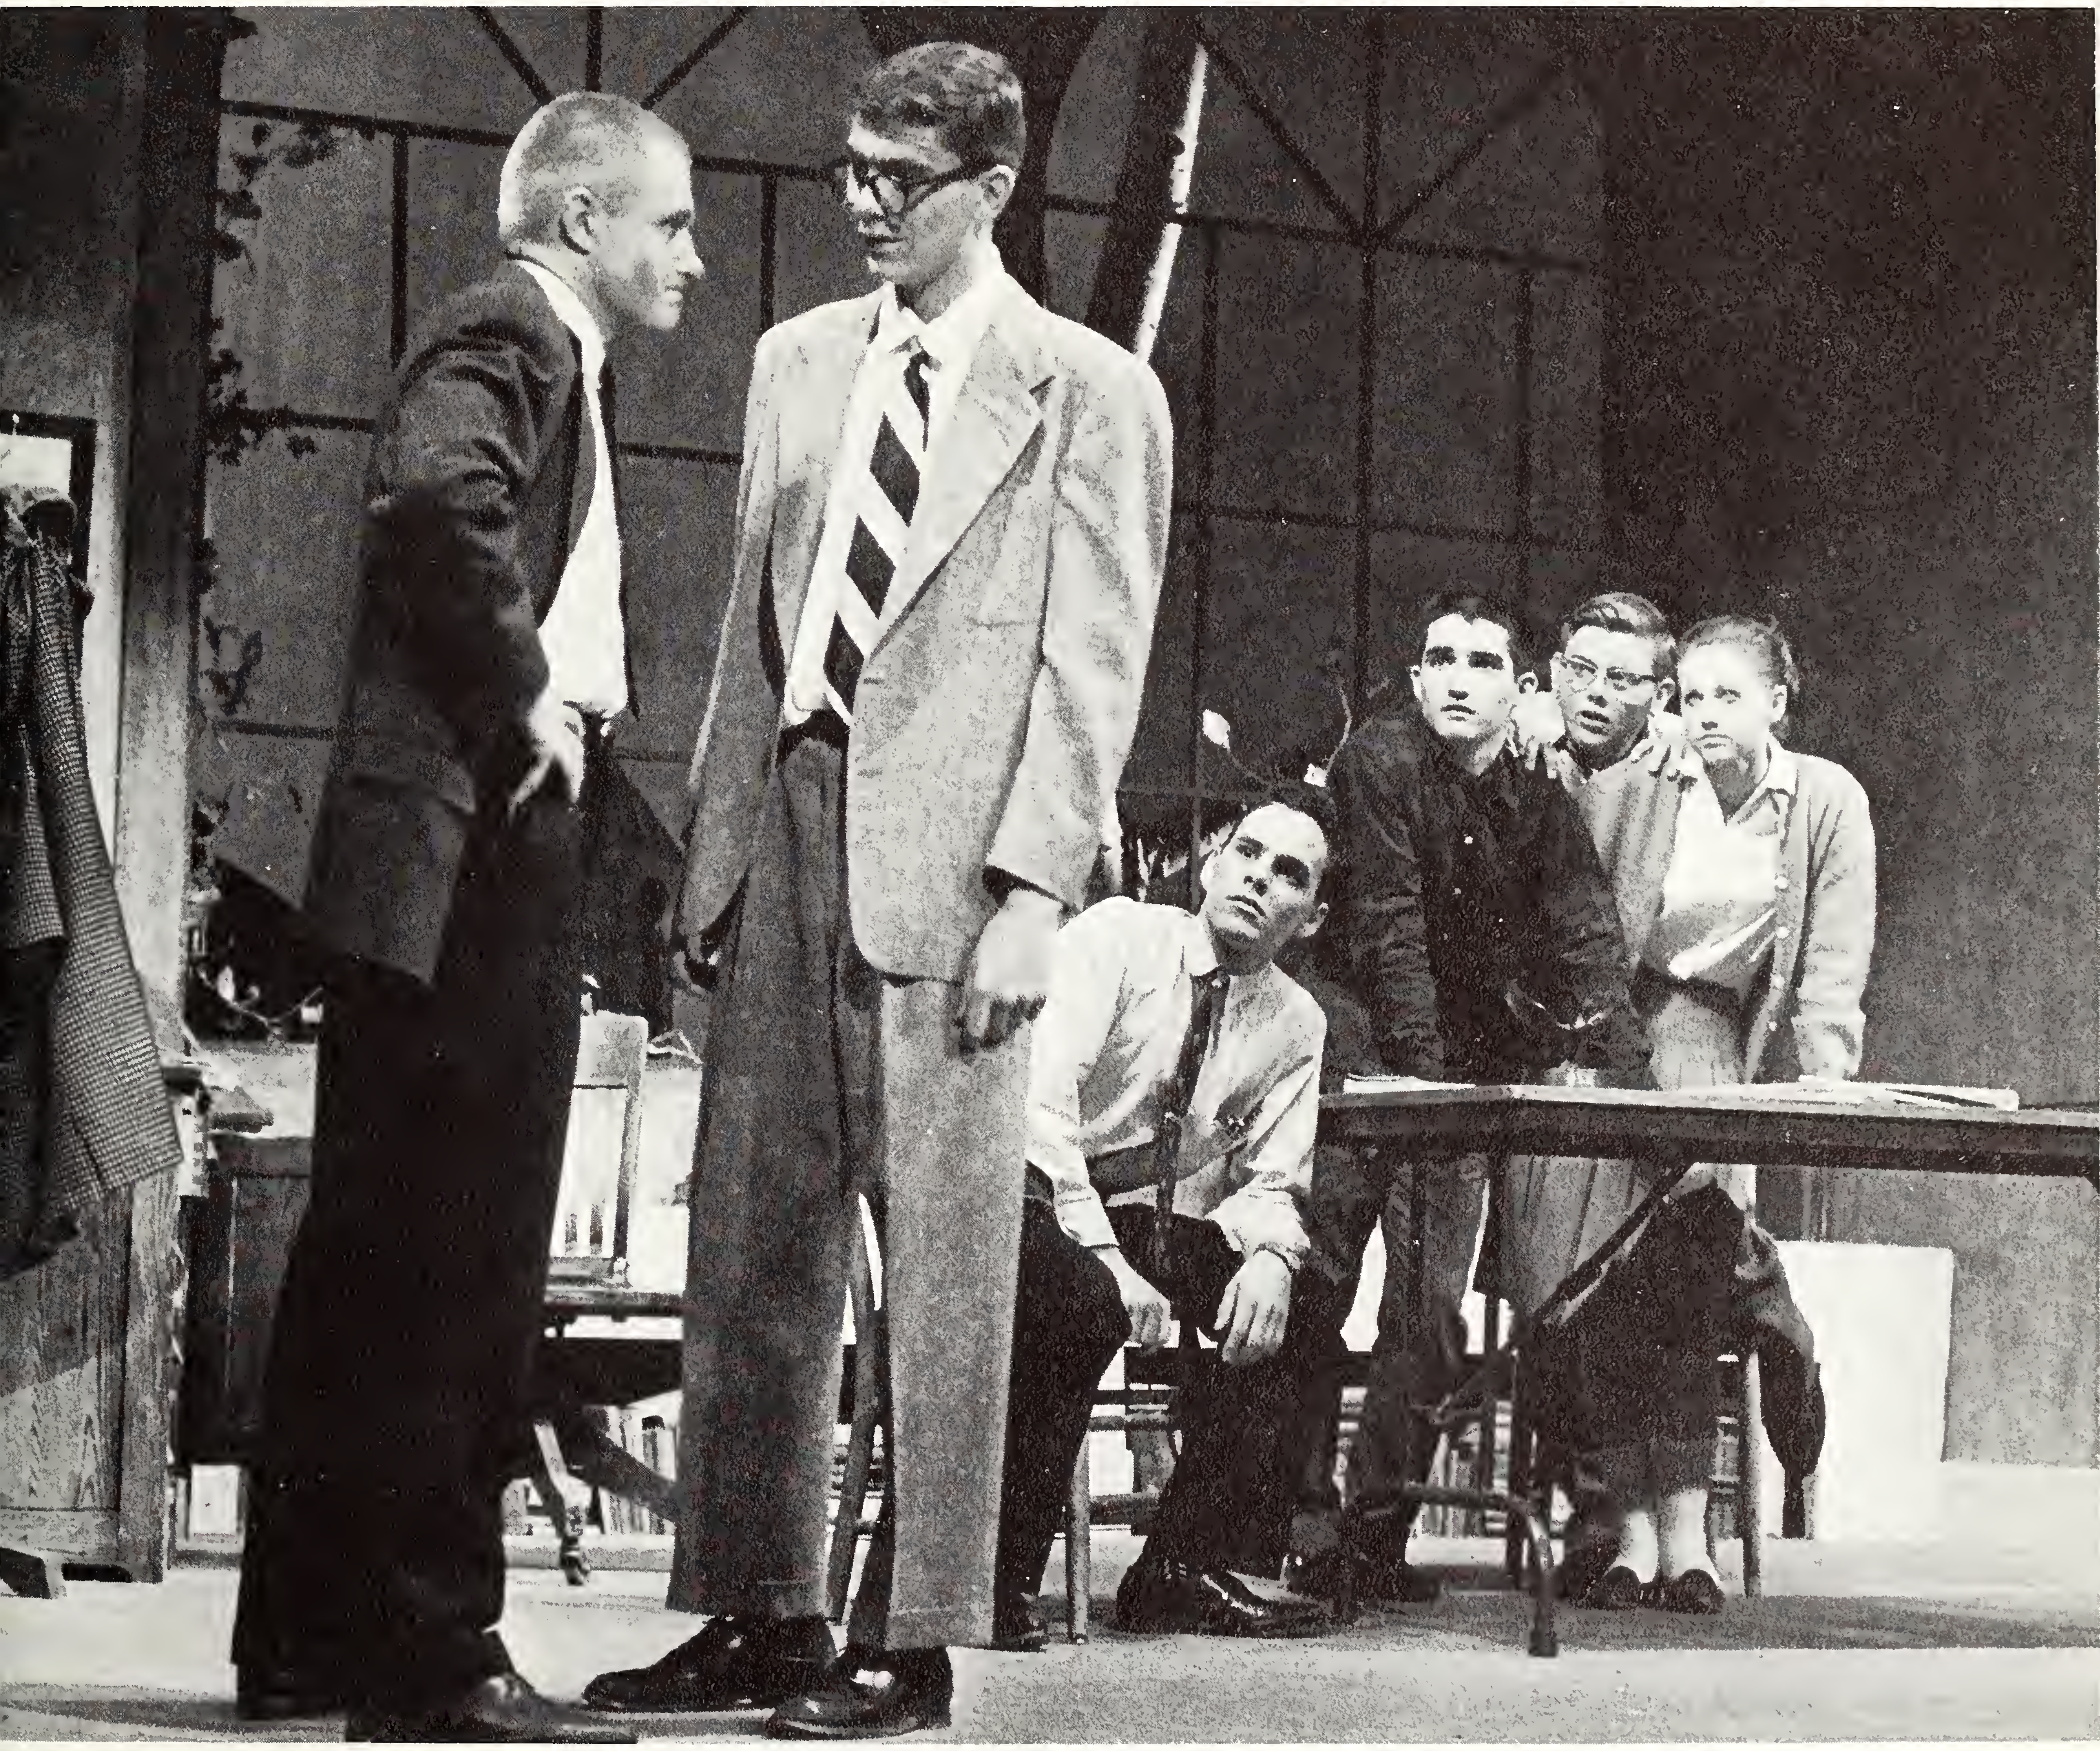
Under the direction of Joe Fitch, this year's M.S.C. theatre group presented The Adding Machine. This was a story about a man's fight for self-survivial against a world of machines. Bryce Missel did a superb job as Mr. Zero, the man who kills his boss. After his trial and death he meets Shurlu, played by Roger Woodriff and together their souls continued to wander until Mr. Zero was told he must go back to the world of machines.

There is skill in constructing a set . . .



. . . which can be used for many performances.

John Brown's Body was the epic poem jointly staged by the Montanans and members of the M.S.C. theatre group. The poem was produced in concert dress. There were seven members of the cast, each having been assigned characterizations as well as various parts of narration. The narration was under the direction of Mr. Joe Wigley a guest director from Washington. The show was also presented at Carrol College and as an exchange show at Montana University.



Over my dead body, I'll move!

ZERO
DIED 1962

That would be a good joke on him, wouldn't it?

The children's show presented by Alpha Psi Omega was Rumplestiltskin. This show was very effectively staged with the castle and the "other world" appearing without scene change. Lilly Larcivan did a very unique characterization of Rumplestiltskin. She was very convincing and amazed the children and adults as well with her realistic performance. The children seemed to enjoy the show as much as the cast did in presenting it. This show was under the clever direction of Joe Fitch.

Don't send me back to the world of machines.

I am so tired of running through this world.

Lilly portrays an excellent Rumple.

During the summer, the drama department converted a barn into a regular theatre-in-the-round, providing quite an experience for those participating in the program. Now called the "Loft Theatre," the barn was the scene of all the summer productions. George Buckbee of the faculty and Bozeman residents, including Kay Cambell and Barbara Watts, participated in the series. Many talented newcomers appeared in productions for the first time this summer.

The tender love of Melora.

Isn't there any way I can convince you I care?

Music

The pressures of a rugged college schedule require periodic releases of pent-up emotions. Many students find this change of pace through the field of music. To some, it is a way of life, and these people are the ones who will spend hours in preparation for a big concert or recital. For others, merely listening to a musical presentation will relieve the tensions and enable them to do their job better. Whichever the case may be, the world of music offers the student an insight into the fine arts.

Symphonette

Creech Reynolds
Director

The MSC Symphonette is composed of thirty of the top musicians from the college and surrounding area. Its membership includes students, faculty, and local businessmen. The group offers concerts during fall and spring quarter, as well as appearances at assemblies during the year. On their tour at the completion of winter quarter, the Symphonette appeared in nine high schools throughout the state and did a very commendable job of promoting MSC. This group continues to meet through the summer months.

The Symphonette featured the music of Stravinsky at its fall concert.

The Marching Band performs precision drills at home football games.

Bobcat Marching Band

The Bobcat Marching Band is made up of about 100 members and its primary function is performing at football games and in various parades. Composed of both men and women, the group presents original half-time shows at all home football games and this year they performed in Missoula during the intermission of the Bobcat-Grizzly clash. Under the vigorous building program of Director Edmund Sedivy, the band has grown steadily in versatility, size, instrumentation, and performance ability. In the past few years, it has built a reputation as one of the most outstanding college bands in the area.

Edmund P. Sedivy
Director

The band sports a fine percussion section.

MSC Minutemen

The Minutemen performed at the Grizzly pep rally held in the SUB.

Organized during the fall quarter of 1961, the Minutemen Band is made up of 19 regular band members. The purpose of the band is to provide a quickly available unit for spontaneous college functions. They have assisted in team send-offs and have frequently been on hand to welcome the teams after victories on the road.

The group can be ready for impromptu functions within five minutes notice.

Montanans

Sixteen of the best voices on campus are chosen each year to sing as the Montanans. This year, the group's repertory consisted entirely of selections arranged by American composers. While on tour throughout Montana, the choir appeared at Glasgow Air Force Base and on Glendive television. Participation in a memorial service at Laurel for Karen Chapman, a member of last year's choir, was the highlight of the season. The Montanan's also performed in the dramatic production, John Brown's Body. Under the able direction of George Buckbee, the group dealt primarily with popular and classical music.

George Buckbee
Director

Montanans often perform for events in the SUB.

Chorale

A mixed chorus of about seventy-five voices, the Chorale deals mainly with oratorio forms of music. With the exception of Elijah, all of the selections presented this year were written by American artists. Because of the greater number of voices, this group is able to be more flexible in its choice of music than the smaller Montanans. The major projects of the Chorale this year was the presentation of Elijah in January. Written by Mendelssohn, the performance was widely proclaimed by students and townspeople alike. The choir also journeyed to Idaho Falls for a concert.

Mrs. Frank T. Cowan and Director George Buckbee give voice lessons to many of the members of the Chorale and the Montanans.

Set up with a balanced instrumentation, the MSU Symphonic Band consists of the finest musicians attending the college and performs music of the highest caliber. Numbering over 100 members, the band gives a number of formal concerts during the year. Outstanding members are selected to make the spring concert tour each year.

Forensics

From work in debating, guided by efficient instruction and right ideals, students discover that debatable questions are far from simple; and they learn to refrain from making judgments based on ignorance. Perhaps most important, debaters come to respect the opinions of those who differ from them, but accept nothing unless the reasoning is sound and the evidence sufficient. There could be no better training for an individual student's citizenship than, "the art of persuasion, beautiful and just."

Debate Squad

Seated: Idell Weydemeyer, Don Wolfe, Tina Micken, Mike Nash, Laury Eck. Standing: Roger Hambly, Mr. Lawrence, Arnold Malone, Gerry Neely, Cecil Wedding, Keith Wilson.

Under the direction of Mr. L. A. Lawrence, this year's debate team placed sixth in the nation in the Pi Kappa Delta tournament with a superior award in the men's sweepstakes division. Consistently placing among the top five teams in every meet they attended, the forensics group traveled from West Point, N.Y. to Linfield, Oregon. The debate squad also presented a number of programs for farm groups, nursing organizations, and civic groups in the community.

The debate team of Gerry Neely and Laury Eck was undefeated in three matches and placed near the top in the others. Eck, a freshman, also participated in original oratory, impromptu speaking, and the Lincoln-Douglas debate. He won numerous awards of excellence for his presentations and is expected to be one of the top speakers of recent years.

WORLD POLITICS

Much research and investigation were required to debate the topic, "Resolved: that the non-communist nations of the world should form an economic community."

Royalty

Poise, character, and personality are the fundamental qualities exhibited by those who are chosen to reign over the activities on our campus. Many hours are spent preparing for that glorious moment when the winner is announced. Though only one of the candidates experiences the elation and joy of serving as a king or queen, all of the nominees are prime examples of the outstanding citizens found on the MSC campus.

Lester Cole, a 1917 Agronomy graduate of Montana State College, has been closely associated with major agricultural development in Montana. In 1919, he joined the staff of the Montana Farmer-Stockman, and is now publisher of that periodical. Cole helped organize a number of state livestock breed associations in the 1920s, and was an organizer and secretary-treasurer of the company which built the livestock marketing yards in Great Falls.

While at MSC, he edited the Exponent for two years. It was in this capacity that he collaborated with his sports editor, Fred Bullock, in nicknaming Montana State College athletic teams the "Bobcats."

Cole was co-sponsor in the organization of the Montana Flying Farmers and Ranchers' Association. He was also a member of Montana's first Social Security Board, and of the State Farm Debt Adjustment Committee. He also served on the advisory board of the Farmers Home Administration.

Born in Belt, Montana, Cole graduated from Butte Public High School. During World War I he served in the French campaign.

He is a director of the National Agricultural Publishers Association, and vice-president and supervisor of national sales offices of the Western Associated Farm Papers.

An ardent golfer, Cole has served as president of the Meadow Lark Country Club in Great Falls. During his stay in Great Falls, he has been active in the Chamber of Commerce and served many terms on its agricultural and livestock committees. He is a member of the Shrine and was president of the Advertising and Rotary clubs of Great Falls.

Cole was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree from Montana State College in June, 1955. He is a member of the MSC Century Club and a director and past president of the Endowment and Research Foundation at MSC.

Publications

What is happening now? How do our students feel? How are other groups reacting to the same situations? What is the outlook for the future? These are some of the questions which the weekly and quarterly publications on campus answer for the student. And the yearbook, with its summary of the activities, shows how things were done here. Quo vadis? The publications have recorded your progress to date.

Board of Publications

Harlan LaBrant
Commissioner

The editors, business managers and faculty advisors of all student publications in addition to the Commissioner of Publications who acts as chairman, make up the Board of Publications. This board is the governing body for all student publications on campus and is primarily a policy-making body for the betterment of the campus publications. Editors are responsible to the Board for anything which goes into their publication and the Board has the power to dismiss any editor or staff member for misconduct. The main duties of the Board are to approve budgets for those publications receiving student funds and to select, in the spring, the editors and business managers for the following year. The Board also works closely with the Bozeman Chamber of Commerce in setting up a policy for the soliciting of advertising.

Exponent

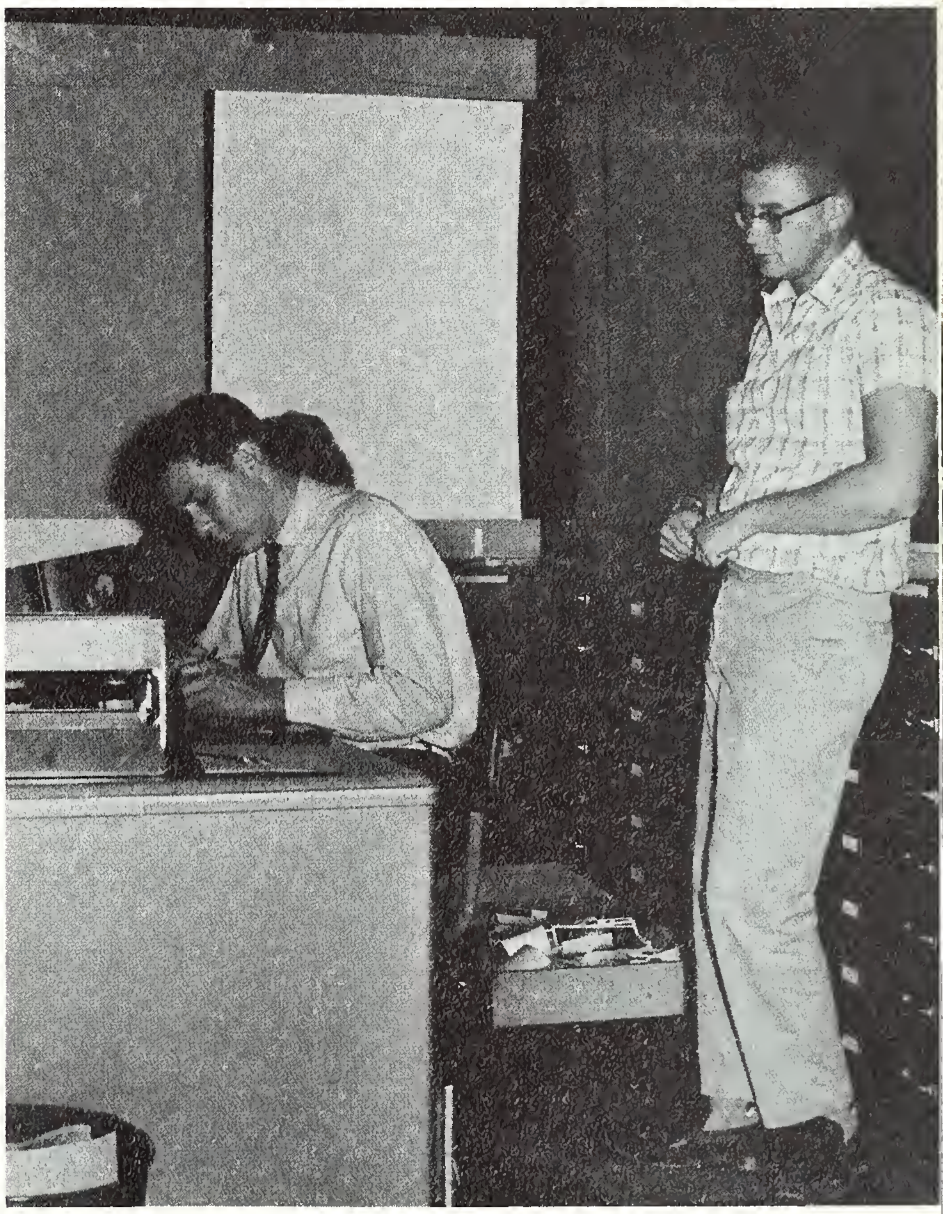
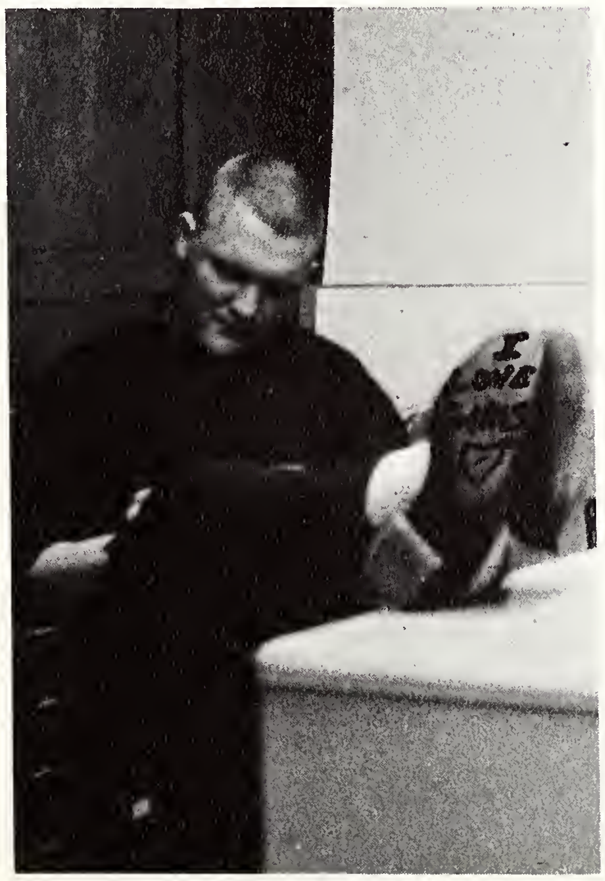
From Student Senate to class activities, through comprehensive coverage of sports and society, the Exponent brings to the students each week the news of Montana State College. Student workers serve voluntarily as writers, typists, proofreaders, photographers, and in the areas of art, business, and layout to report the facts to their readers.

My name is Querida!
I am a mascot!

Jeffries loves work. He could stand and watch it all day.





Bill Walter writes about sports.

Floyd Johnson
Editor

Exponent

Due to the lack of a school of journalism at MSC, each staff member must train his successor as well as the budding crop of new workers who join the publication each year. To enable them to do this, some of the editorial staff attend conferences where they discuss their problems with students from other schools. Meetings of this type improve the paper during that year and in those to follow. The Exponent not only gives the student a chance to participate in an extra-curricular activity, but the opportunity for practical experience in the field of journalism, which some of the members expect to enter upon graduation.

John Cannici
Business Manager

Through the editorial policy adopted by Editor Floyd Johnson and his staff, the Exponent attempts to seek out the student views on controversial subjects and establish the one which represents a majority. One of the most disputed subjects seems to be the ability of the Freshman class. So once a year, the Frosh are allowed to put out an issue of the paper. The Froshponent, as their issue is called, gives the regular members of the staff a chance to relax and enjoy the gleeful green publication.

Find the news, assign a reporter, schedule a picture, write a column – to mention a few of the duties of the staff. Then on Wednesday night, the paper is put together, but not without some problems. Some copy is too long, another too short, and what about the story that wasn't written. Into the wee hours of the morning they go. But all of this is forgotten when the Exponent comes out on Friday.

Walton says, "I can count, too many characters."

Exponent

A coke and a smoke.

From registration to graduation, find it, cover it, write it, proof it, headline it, and print it. This is the weekly life of the Exponent, beginning with the assignments posted on Thursday morning, through to the final printing of the paper one week later. It is often a hectic grind, but when your blood takes on the dark color of ink, you know you're stuck with the journalism bug.

No wonder it takes till 3 a.m.

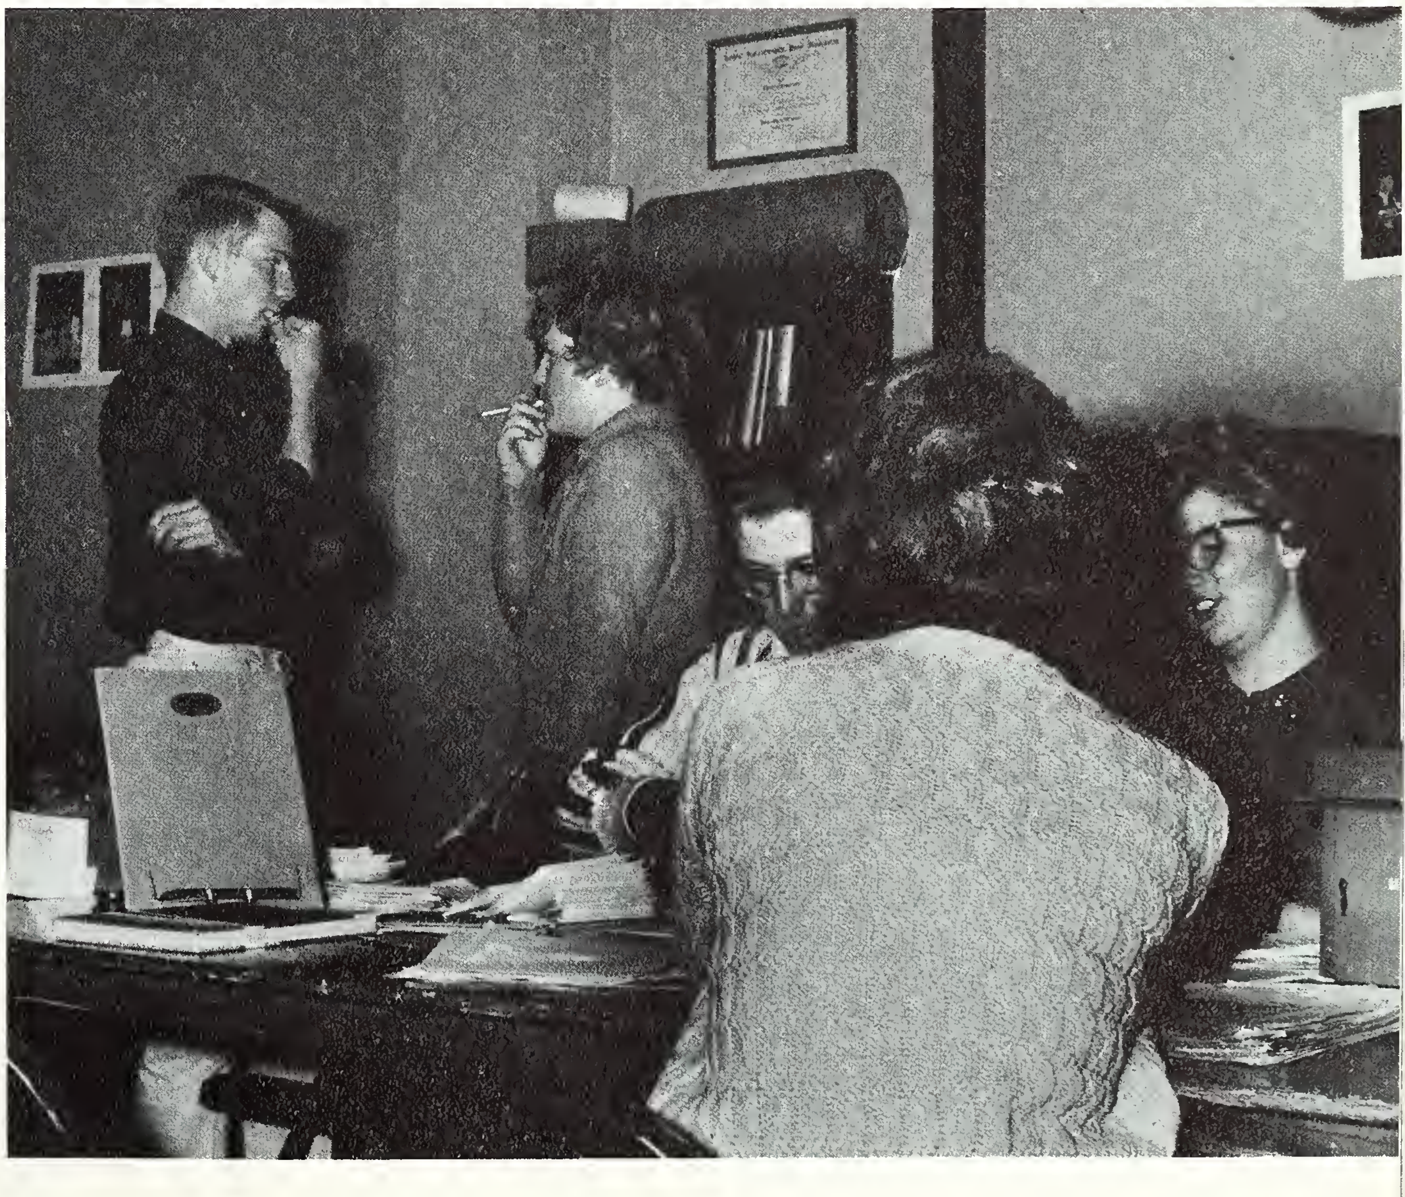
Many of the events and activities which take place during the hectic days of college are of great importance to the student, but he seldom has the time to record them for later enjoyment. The MONTANAN captures in words and pictures the happenings on campus and retains them for the student to live and relive in the years to come; to bring back the memories of the clubs, activities, and the social groups which play such an important part of college life.



We got ourselves into this mess, now how do we work our way out of it?

Assembling a yearbook is quite similar to the construction of a building. First, the foundation must be established; the basis upon which the book is to be set up. This is done through the combined efforts of the Editor and Business Manager. Then, the columns upon which the bulk of the structure will rest must be created. These are the bulwarks around which the majority of the yearbook revolves.

Gail Graham
Associate Editor

Edith Carlson
Art Editor

On this year's Montanan, these vital positions were filled by the Associate, Copy, Art and Photography Editors respectively. Though each had a specific area to concentrate on, their efforts were well coordinated so that when Edee's art, Ray's photos, and Margaret's copy were placed, together as one unit or page, the end result was harmonious and pleasing. Through their guidance and leadership and the efforts of the many general staff members pictured above it is again possible to give the student body the quality and caliber of yearbook they have come to expect.

Arrange for pictures, write the copy, meet the deadlines, pay the bills — the list grows as the deadlines appear. At last, everything is mailed and the job is up to the printers. Then the book comes out and all of the hard work, the late hours, and the missed meals seem worth it. Finally, the last of the bills are collected and the books are closed. The events of the year have been recorded for posterity and another school term has been completed.

Engineer

To keep the students well informed on the latest developments in the industrial world, the engineering students of Montana State College publish the Montana Engineer each quarter. This magazine contains articles written by the students and faculty of MSC as well as information provided by some of the top men in this field from all parts of the country. Though its circulation is primarily on campus, the Engineer is often requested by people from all parts of the nation.

Harvey Wylie, Class of '56

It was back in 1952 that Harvey Wylie left Calgary to attend Montana State College. Wylie, now rated as the best Canadian player in Canadian football, went on to star at MSC for four years. He earned a degree in mechanical engineering and also found time to play baseball for three seasons.

At MSC Wylie started out as a quarterback on the freshman team, but moved to a halfback spot in '53. As a junior, Wylie was one of the outstanding offensive backs in U.S. college ball. He earned 101 points (2nd in the nation) and was named the most valuable player at MSC. He received all-conference honors and was named honorable mention Little All-American. He captained State in his senior year and was named to the second all-conference squad.

Wylie signed with the Calgary Stampeders in '56 and was used as a defensive back in his rookie year. He was a flanker in '57 but moved back to defense for good in 1958.

His ten interceptions in '59 tied a league record and a 110 yard kickoff return was the best turned in by any player that season. He made the all-star squad and hasn't missed since.

For the past five seasons Wylie managed at least one touchdown per season on kickoff returns and in '62 set a Canadian record of 836 yards on returns.

1962 saw Wylie get the Canada Packers award as the most popular player on the Stampeder team; the defensive halfback spot on the Western Conference all-star team and the All-Canadian team and the Schenley award as Canada's top player.

Football wasn't all Wylie learned at college for today he also makes a good living as an engineer with the Alberta Gas Trunk Co., a gas transmission company that exports natural gas from Alberta to Eastern Canada and to California.

Married and the father of two boys and two girls, Wylie now 29 years old, expects to play one or two more seasons with the Stampeders. Captain of the team he is looking forward to the 1963 season as the Stampeders are now rated the top team in Canada and favorites to capture the Grey Cup next November.

MONTANA STATE

Athletics does not just mean a full-ride, recognition, and fame; it also means long hours of practice, sacrifice of study time, and hard work. Since many of our athletes become coaches and teachers, their participation is comparable to a class, instructing them for the future, preparing them to meet the challenges ahead. Quo Vadis?

The job of organizing the student body into an effective cheering unit falls upon the shoulders of these five girls. Whether at a pep rally or a game, their desire and enthusiasm does much to inspire our team to victory. Appointed by the Traditions Board, the girls are led by a cheer queen, who is elected by an all-school vote. Combined with the songleaders, they add much color and spirit to the game.

Football

From the hot, sultry weeks of August to the frozen days of early December, the football squad spends long hours on the practice field and in locker room chalk talks, preparing for those ten afternoons a year when their knowledge and skills will be tested. Sometimes they are victorious — other times defeated, but each one knows that he did his best on every occassion to uphold the traditions and codes of a clean, hard-fought athletic contest.

Cats Compile 7-3 Record

Herb Agocs
Head Coach

Coach Herb Agocs guided the Bobcats to their most successful season since 1958 as the gridders compiled a fine 7-3 record against the roughest schedule in many years. Following the end of the season, Agocs resigned as football coach to spend more time on an advanced degree. In his five years, he compiled a 30-13-2 record, one of the best in MSC history. Line Coach Jim Sweeney was named to take over the reins of the Bobcat grid squad.

MSC 27-Arizona State 6

The Bobcats opened their season on the road by defeating the tough Arizona State Lumberjacks in Flagstaff. Trailing 6-0 at half time, the Cats were sparked by a 61-yard scoring drive to begin their march to victory. Taking advantage of four pass interceptions in the second half, the Bobcats dominated the rest of the game for one of their finest performances.

MSC 37-North Dakota State 2

Opposed by a largely inexperienced team, the Cats scored their second consecutive victory over the North Dakota Bison at Great Falls. The Bobcats built up a 30-0 lead in the first half with the MSC secondary adding seven points in the second half to give the Bobcats one of their easiest wins of the year.

MSC 14-South Dakota State 10

Still on the road, the Bobcats traveled to Brookings to topple the South Dakota State Jackrabbits for the second year in a row. In a well-fought game, MSC trailed the Jacks until late in the fourth quarter. Behind 10-7, the Bobcats capitalized on an 89-yard scoring drive and a touchdown pass from quarterback Ken Christison to Russ Powers to gain their third win of the young season.

MSC 13-Utah State University 41

In the first home game of the season, MSC lost to high-rated Utah State U. Ranked as the top independent college in the Rocky Mountain area, the Aggies were too big and too deep for the fighting Bobcats. Fighting up to the final gun, the Cats made the powerful Aggies pay for every yard to give the visitors the toughest competition they had encountered thus far.

MSC 30-Idaho State 14

In their second home game of the season, the Bobcats easily won over Idaho State to avenge the 14-12 defeat by the Bengals in Pocatello last year. Plagued by fumbles and interceptions themselves, the Cats took advantage of interceptions and recovered Bengal fumbles to drive to victory. The Bobcat cause was sparked by two touchdown runs by Russ Powers and the passing and point conversions of quarterback and co-captain Bill Mulchay.

MSC 33-Idaho University 15

Homecoming found the Bobcats in good shape to meet Idaho University. A 40-yard pass from Mulchay to Fennal on the first play of the game began the drive which gave the Bobcats a lead which was never threatened during the game. The MSC victory was ample payment for the Vandals 28-12 victory in the last meeting of the two schools in 1948 in Moscow. The Cats functioned perfectly as a team, each member doing more than his share, for their fifth victory of the season.

MSC 10-Wichita 32

On the road again after three games at home, the Bobcats met the Wichita Shockers in Wichita. Behind 7-6 in the first quarter, Wichita scored 20 points by the end of the quarter to take a lead which was never threatened. The Cats lone touchdown was scored by halfback Russ Powers in the first quarter. Fighting valiantly but unable to advance on the Shockers, the Bobcats suffered their second defeat of the year.

MSC 16-NDU 3

Home for their last game of the season the Cats met and conquered the North Dakota Sioux 16-3. Down three to nothing at the beginning of the second half, a recovered fumble was the start of a touchdown drive by the Bobcats. The interception of a Sioux pass by Bill Mulchay sparked a second drive to bring the final score of the game to 16-3.

MSC 19-MSU 36

In Missoula for the annual battle with the university, the Bobcats lost a heart-breaker to the Grizzlies. Scoring two touchdowns early in the first quarter, the prospects looked good for MSC until the second half when the lead was lost, never to be regained. Two touchdowns by fullback Bucky May and one by end Gordie Schlabs accounted for the only Bobcat scoring of the day.

MSC 21-Fresno State 20

In the final game of the season, MSC came from behind late in the fourth quarter to defeat the Fresno State Bulldogs for a season record of seven wins and three losses. The passing of quarterback Ken Christison accounted for two of the Bobcat scores, both in the first quarter. Falling behind in the second half, the Cats put up a determined resistance to the Bulldog offense. Late in the fourth quarter, end Bill Cords recovered a Bulldog fumble and then took a pass from Bill Mulchay to score. Stopped at the one-yard line, the Bulldogs were forced to try a field goal on the last play of the game. It was blocked by Joe Tiller to insure the Bobcat victory and a successful season.

Jackson intercepts for the Kittens.

The freshmen football team, under the leadership of Coach George Marinkovich, compiled a fine 2-1 record this year, including a 27-15 win over the MSU Cubs. Though they played only three regular scheduled games, the frosh got plenty of action as they scrimmaged against the varsity several times a week. The Kittens displayed a fine running attack during the season and many of the squad members will fill in on the varsity next fall.

The frosh boasted an alert defensive team.

In their opening game of the season, the Kittens traveled to Pocatello for a game with the Idaho State freshmen. Committing the usual early season mistakes, the Kittens absorbed a 54-19 defeat from a very fine ISU ballclub. The following weekend, a great effort by the frosh was rewarded with a 27-15 decision over the Cubs from the University. Continuing their winning ways, the Kittens ended the season with a smashing 42-7 victory over Northwest Community College. Scoring in every period, the freshmen concluded their finest season in years.

Basketball

A tough old sergeant can easily handle a group of young recruits; a youthful executive is able to manage skilled personnel — but the real challenge finds a relatively inexperienced teacher instructing a group of untried pupils. It takes hard work and sacrifices, with the rewards often few and far between. But with plenty of determination and support, goals which may have seemed too high can be attained by those who are willing to show determination and work for a goal.

Roger Craft
Head Coach

The 1962-63 basketball season was one of rebuilding at MSC. Roger Craft was elevated to head coach after serving as frosh mentor for the past two years. He replaced Dobbie Lambert, who had guided the Cats for seven years. Under Craft's guidance, the young team, composed of eight sophomores, four juniors, and three seniors, won 13 of its 26 games. This was the first time in five years that a Bobcat squad had been able to avoid a losing season.

Streeter hauls down a rebound.

Hey, they're after our cheerleaders!

Sophomores Dominate Starting Lineups

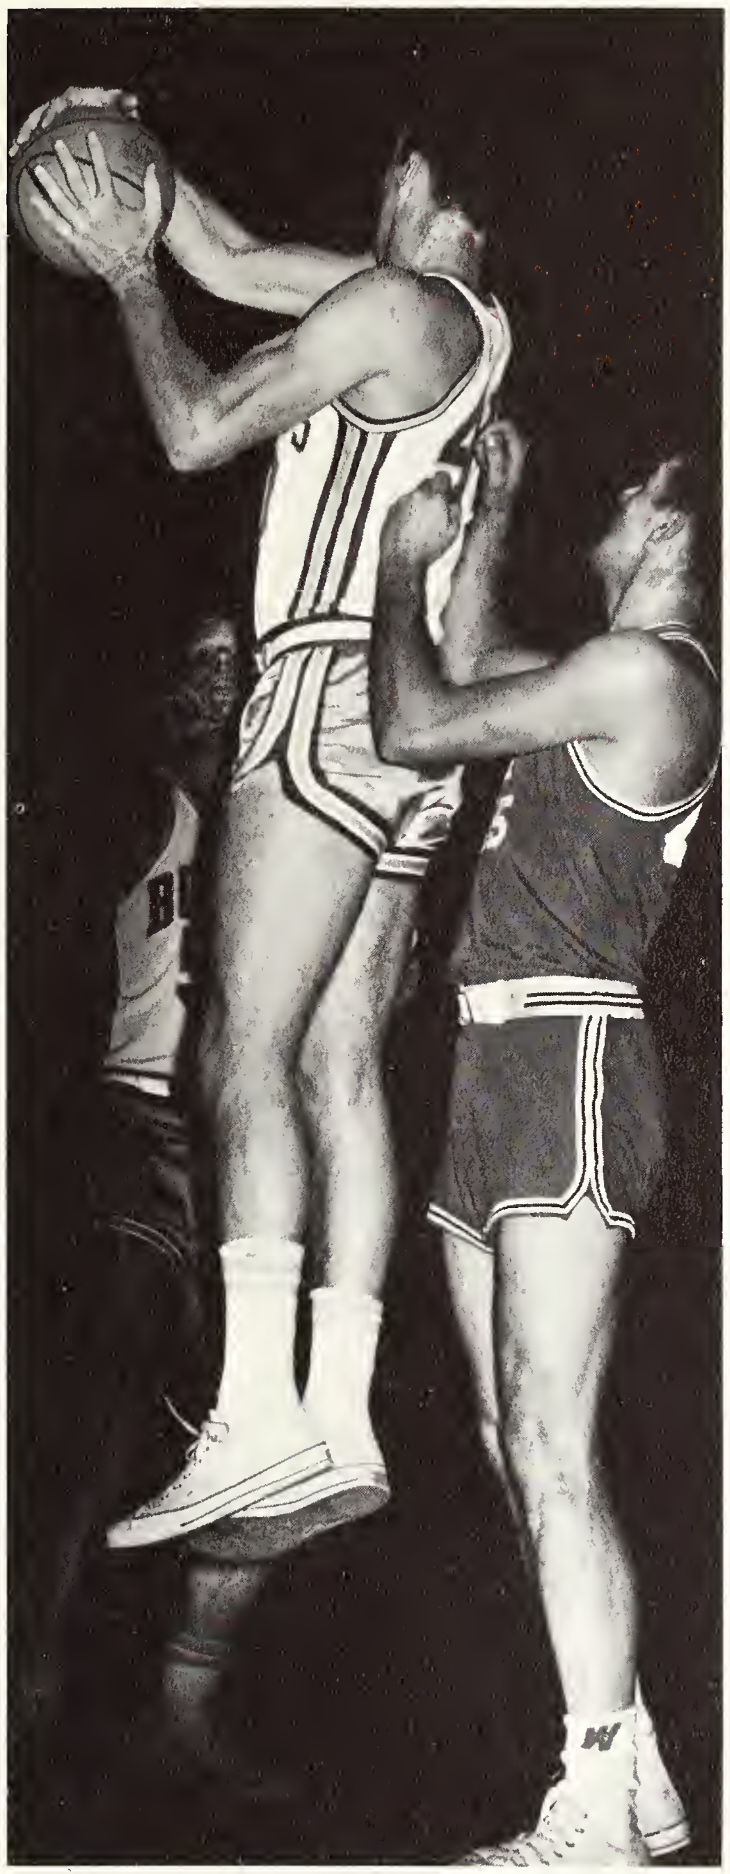
Coach Craft used basically the same lineup, made up of three sophomores, a junior. and a senior, throughout the entire season. The opening whistle usually found captain Milt Horton and Kermit Young at the forwards; Bob Gustafson at center; and Bill Phillips, Dave Knostman, or Don Rae at guard.

Kermit Young, sophomore from Fairfield, was the leading scorer and rebounder for the Cats this year, the first second-year man to accomplish this feat since Larry Chaney did it in 1956. Young averaged 16.7 points and 10.1 rebounds per contest. He was followed by senior Milt Horton, who scored 12.7 points with about eight rebounds per outing.



Put me down you dumb jock!

The season started out slowly for the young team as they lost five of their first six games. After defeating Whitworth in the opener, 69-55, they lost a return game the next night, 72-71, then dropped two games to Utah State and Idaho University.

Bobcats Win Mythical Crown from MSU

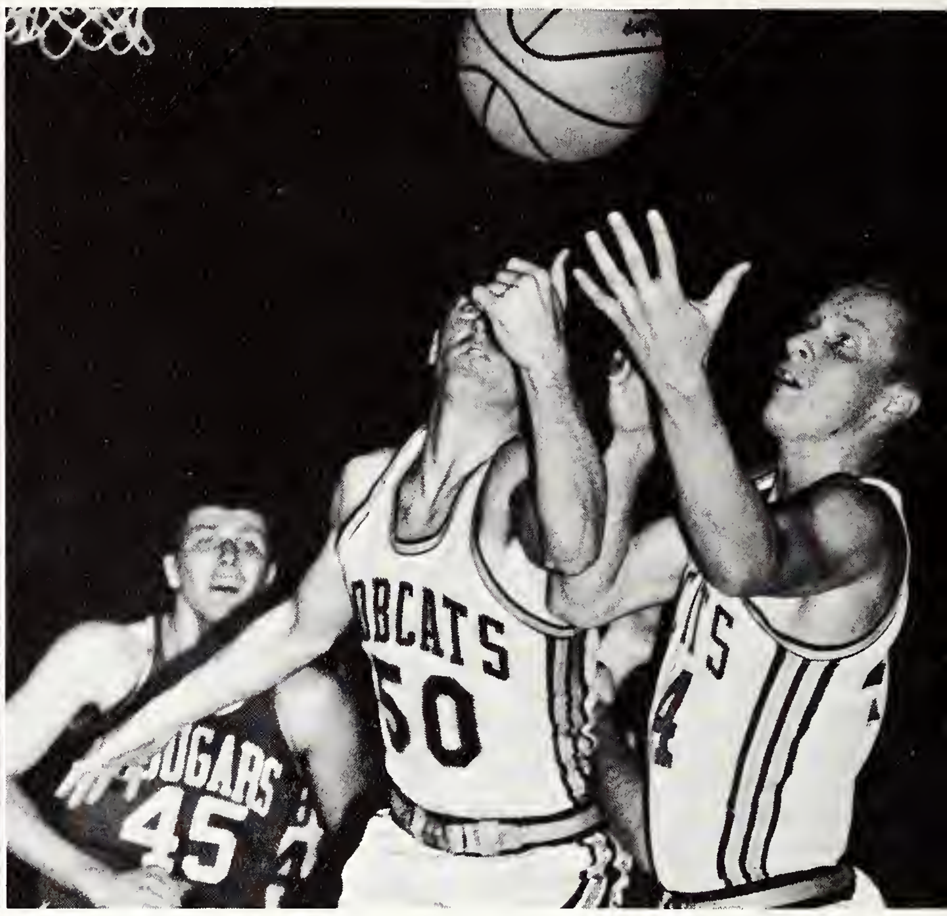
. . . And the ballgame is on!

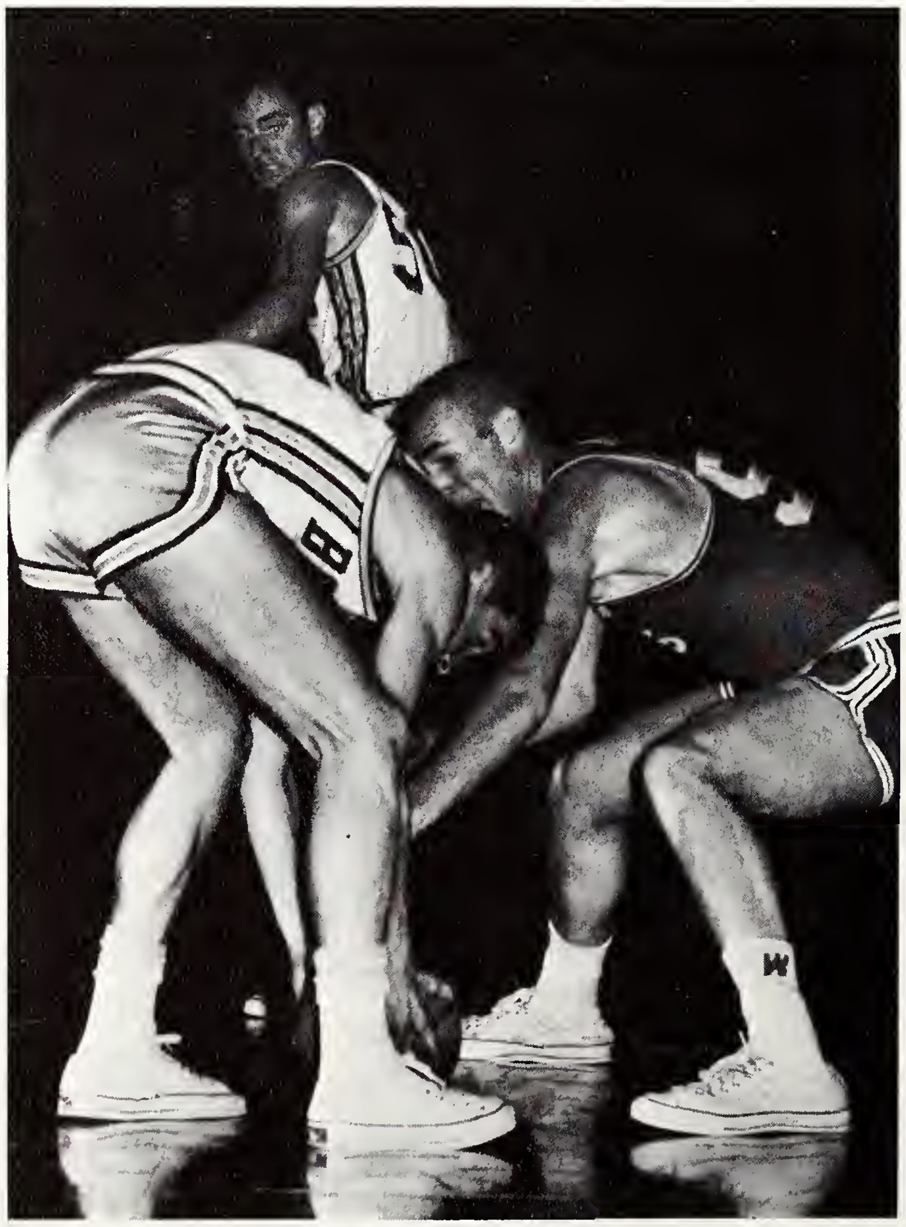
I missed — it's your turn now.



Seattle Pacific invaded the Fieldhouse during the Christmas vacation and was defeated by the Bobcats by a 72-63 margin.

The varsity then traveled to the West coast where they were defeated by powerful Seattle, 103-79. The next night they traveled to Tacoma and dumped Pacific Lutheran, 82-71.

Returning home, MSC upset Seattle 71-59 in one of the best games of the year as the Cats held All-American Eddie Miles to 19 points. The following week, also on the coast, the Bobcats fell victim to the Washington State Cougars, 80-65.



Elevator, elevator, . . .

Just hold on — I'll go get the Coach.

Cats Upset Seattle 71-59

A swing into Colorado opened February as the Cats met with defeat at the hands of Colorado State U. 100-83, and a 112-76 loss to Regis of Denver. This was the worst single weekend in MSC history, but it seemed to have a beneficial effect as the team caught fire and won six of their last eight games.

At home for four games, the Bobcats played their most consistent ball of the season. They rolled over Gonzaga 70-63, and evened the series with Washington State 73-71, as Kermit Young scored with only seconds remaining in the game to give the Cats a come-from-behind victory.

The biggest series of the year was next on the schedule – a two-game set with the Grizzlies. The Bobcats proved capable of rising to the occasion as they won both games by nearly identical scores; 78-68 the first night and 77-68 the next. The following week, the Cats traveled to Missoula and again defeated their cross-state rivals, by a decisive 86-73 margin.

The squad suffered a defensive lapse the next night as they lost to Idaho University, 106-79. Returning to Idaho State for the final series of the year, the Bobcats lost to the Bengals 95-79 the first night, but captured a 76-68 decision the following evening to end the season with a fine 13-13 won-loss record.

Coaches Kraft and Stockton look over the years' statistics.

Competing against the top freshman and junior college teams in the area, the Bobkittens compiled a 6-6 record. Opening the season with a pair of one-point victories over Idaho State, the Kittens won four of their first five games. After splitting the next two, the squad hit a slide and was defeated in all but one of their last five encounters. Victories included wins over ISU, the MSU Cubs, and Sheridan and Powell Junior Colleges. Some of the frosh are expected to fill in on the varsity next year despite the loss of only three seniors.

Coach Bob Beck discusses a coming meet with Tor Fageraas and Bill Barrier.

Defeating the top teams in the Rocky Mountain region, the slatmen walked offff with victories at Banff, Alberta, and White Pass, Washington to cap their most successful season in history. Rated by Coach Beck as the strongest team ever, the Cats suffered the misfortune of having their own MSC Invitational meet cancelled because of too much snow. Most of the team participated in the NCAA Championships at Solitude, Utah. All-American Tor Fageraas again led the squad with his great performances and was chosen as one of the outstanding skiers in the Nordic events, while Bill Barrier was listed among the top in Alpine.

Tennis

The clear, sunny days of spring quarter bring outdoor sports back to the campus scene. The tennis team begins practice as soon as the weather allows, and for the rest of the quarter devote their efforts to aid the cause of intercollegiate athletics at MSC. Coached by Keith Bowen, the team consistently provides good action for the spectators as well as turning in a creditable performance for the record book.

Bowling

Action for the bowling team begins early and runs throughout the year. Beginning in November and finishing early spring quarter, the team traveled to many colleges in the area. Constant practice by the members of the team enabled them to turn in a fine won-lost record. The highlight of the year was the defeat of the Grizzlies from Montana State University.

Golf

Kneeling: Jim Conant, Randy Fisk. Standing: George Webber, Pete Oljar, Ray Murphy, Darrell Charlton, Mike McCartney.

Home and home meets with Montana State University, Carroll College, and Eastern Montana and a meet with Idaho State University provided a busy schedule for the members of the golf team during spring quarter. Coached by the versatile Robert Beck, the members receive only the enjoyment of competition as a reward for their efforts.

Sgt. Booe
Coach

First place by both the men's and women's teams in the NRA Inter-collegiate Championships put the finishing touches on the most successful season in many years. Under the skillful coaching of Sgt. Booe, the team won five of the eight meets in which they competed. Other outstanding victories included first place at the regional meet in Reno, Nevada, and two successful state title defenses against the Grizzlies.

Varsity Rifle Teams

Kneeling: Ralph Saunders, Dick Schendel. Standing: Jack Marmon, Bill Kude.

Mary Henry, Margaret Voermans, Linda Long.

Women's Athletics

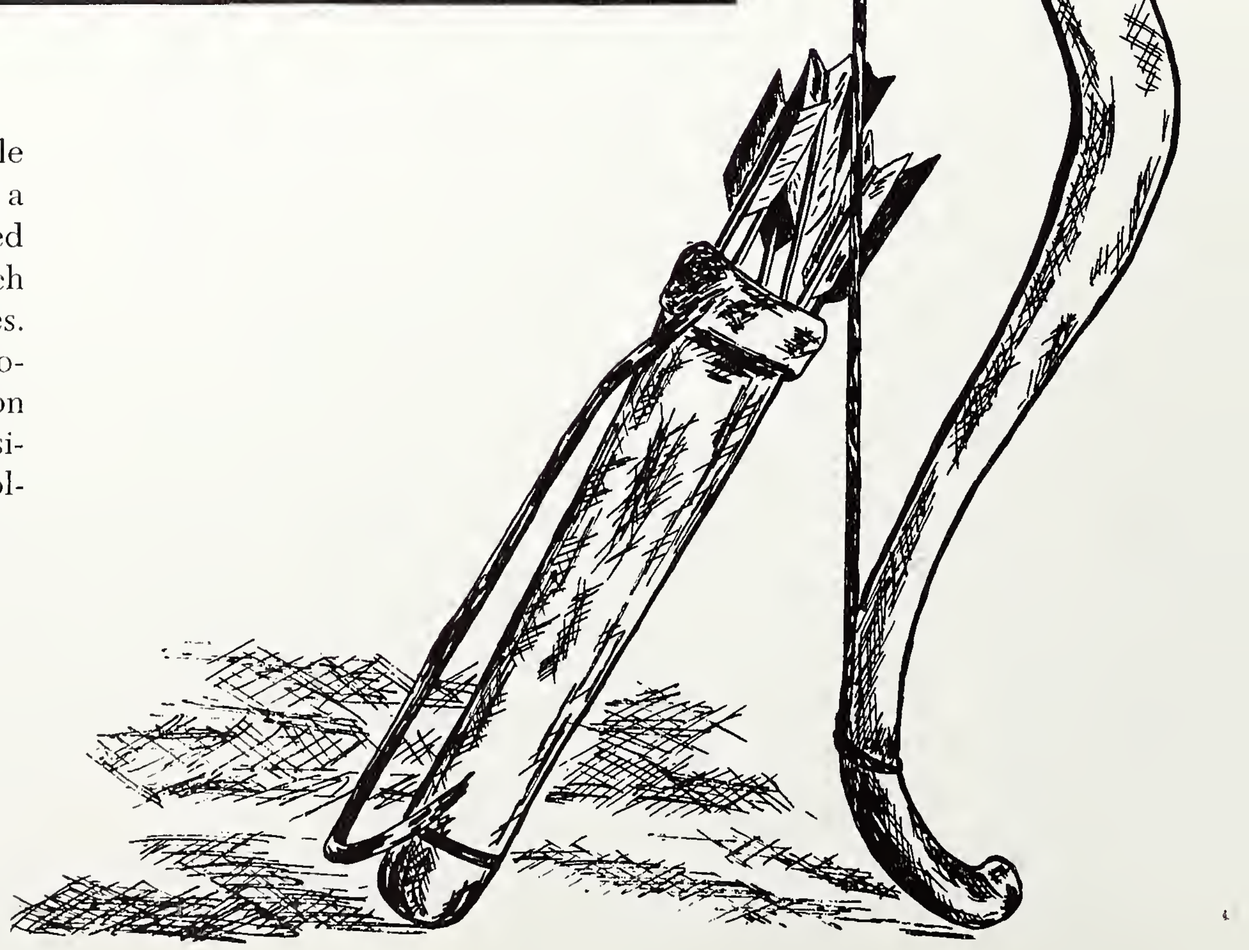
The emphasis on intercollegiate sports leaves little thoughts to the coeds who have just as active a program on the intramural level. Teams organized from the various living groups form leagues which instill a competitive spirit throughout the activities. But participation in the program also develops cooperation and teamwork in the quest of common goals — the development of a better person physically and mentally. Athletic skills acquired in college provide lifelong recreational opportunities.



I saw it first!

Determined to pick up that 10 pin.

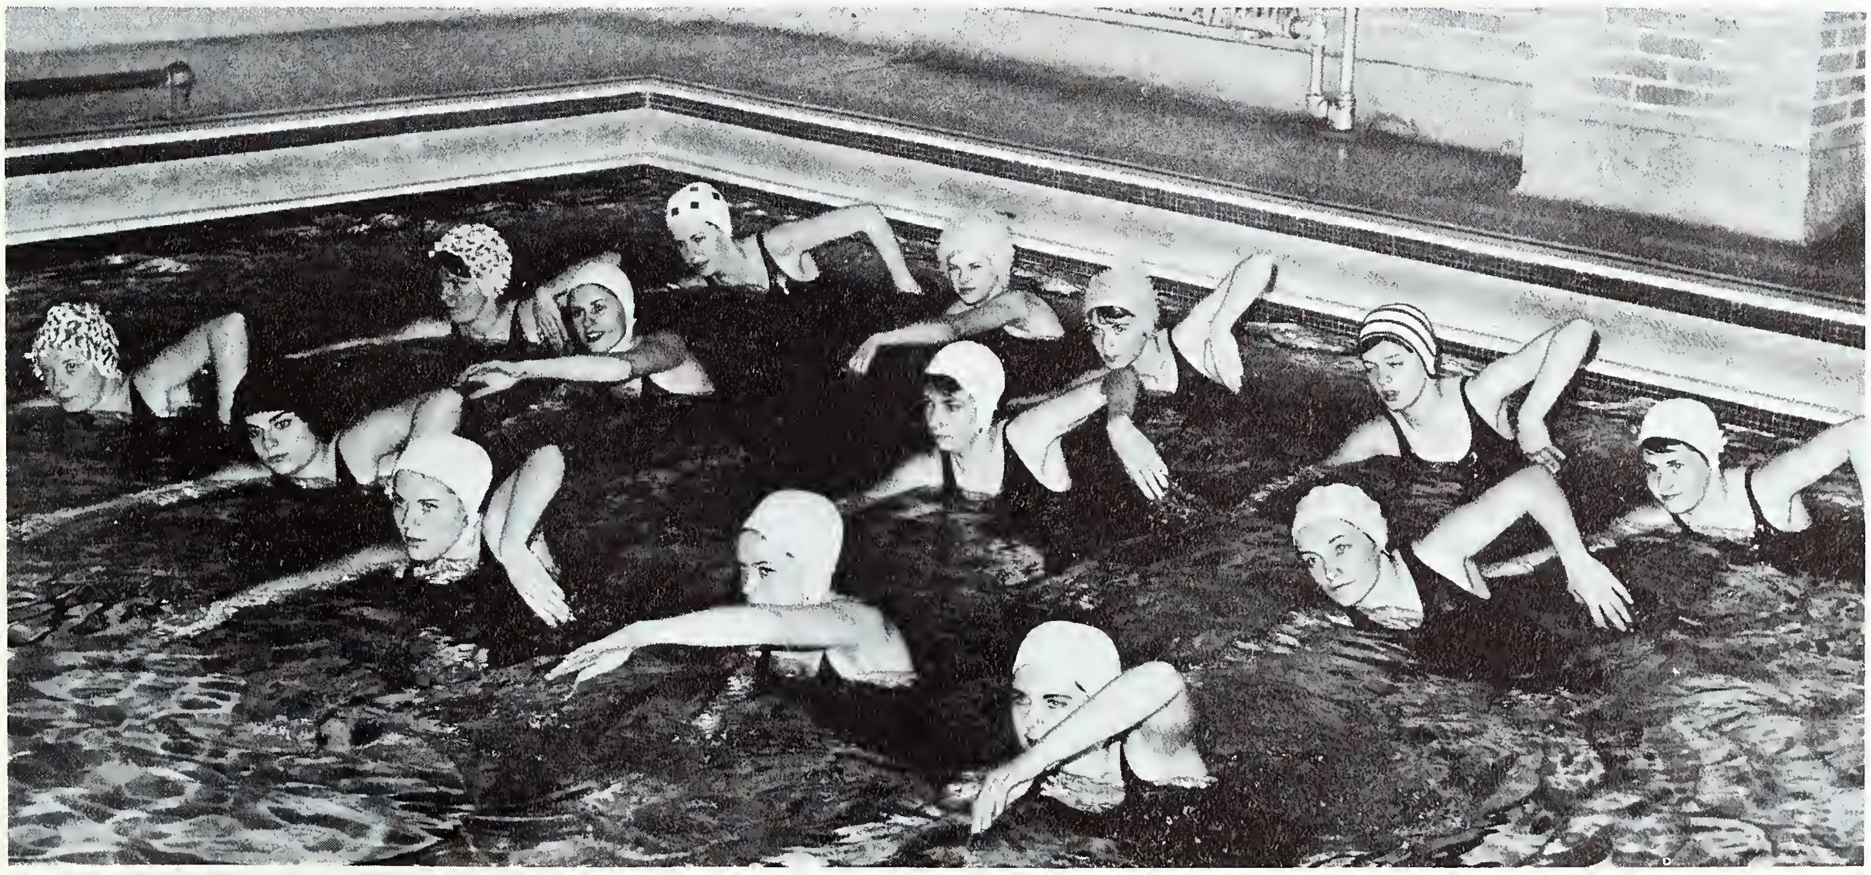
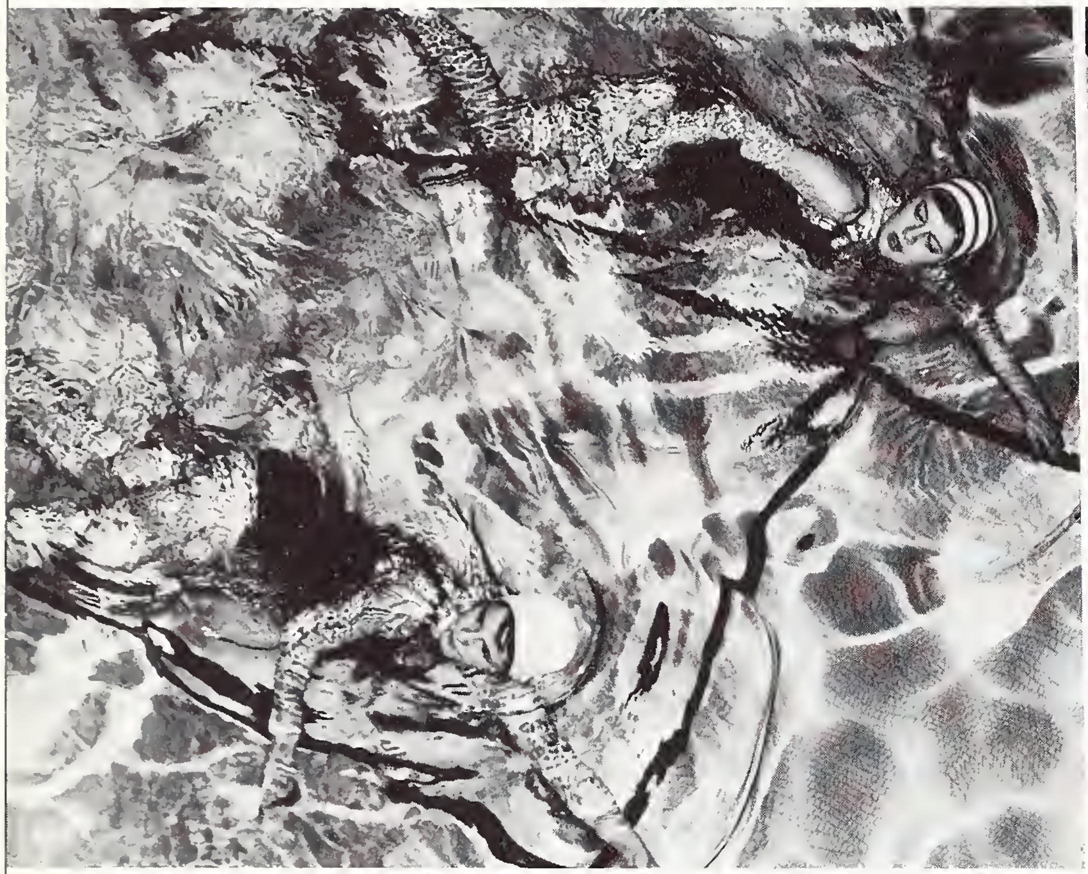
Women's organized athletics provide many varied activities for the sports-minded coeds of MSC. There is keen competition between the independents and the sororities for the highly-coveted Hamilton Trophy, awarded each year to the organized group earning the most points through individual participation in women's athletics.

Why is this section of the pool so crowded?





We are Dolphins! We are swimming!

If that team doesn't shape up we'll take away their scholarships.

Maybe if I cross my fingers . . .

Women participate in a variety of team sports: basketball, volleyball, bowling, rifle team, archery, and softball. However, competition runs high in the individual sports such as ping-pong, badminton, tennis, and golf. MSC Blazers are awarded to those girls who have taken first place in the individual singles events.

Swimming is enjoyed by many at the campus swimming pool, which is reserved one night a week for girls only. Those girls who show exceptional talent and ability in swimming are chosen to be members of the Dolphins — the swimming team which prides itself in synchronized water ballet.

Intramural Sports

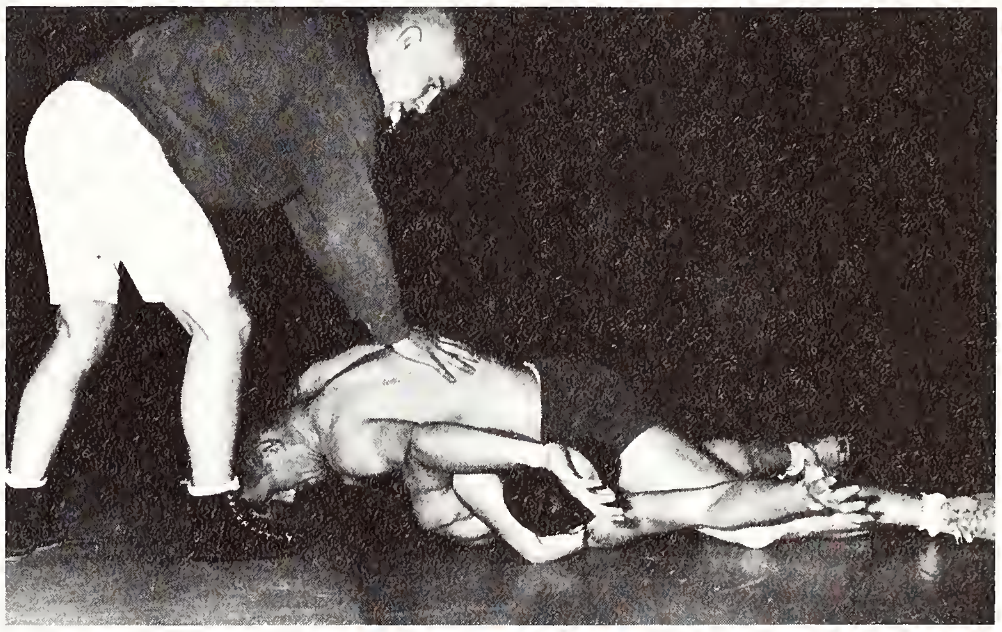
For the student who was not able to take part in varsity athletics, the intramural program offered an opportunity to compete in every phase of college sports. This year's schedule was the best in the school's history with over 900 men entered in the various activities. This competition between the living groups gave the participants a chance to practice teamwork, sportsmanship, and clean living, and provided the recreational facilities often missing in the busy college schedule. In accordance with President Kennedy's program, the motto was "Stay Healthy — Play Intramurals."

Under the direction of Dobbie Lambert, Director, and Hal Nelson, Student Director, the intramural program witnessed its most successful season. The touch football league crowned the SAE's as champions following their play-off victory over the Delta Sigs. For the first time, an all-star team was chosen and Gene Tillman of SAE was named the Most Valuable Player. The Sigma Chis captured the cross-country crown with Larry Corneilison taking first place.

Cross country with "vigah!"

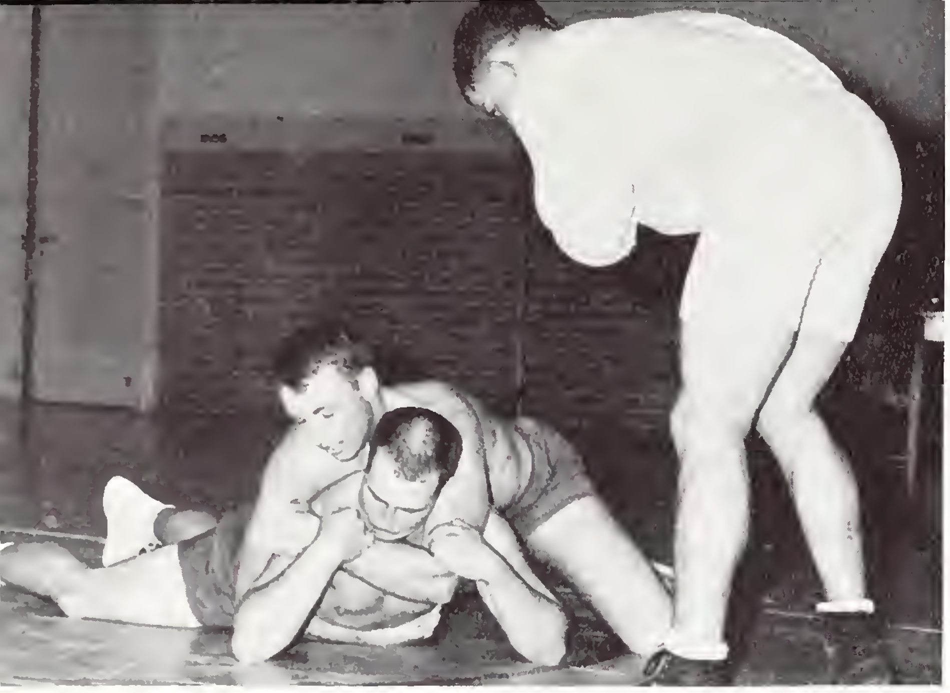
"Because it's my ball, that's why!"

When asked to comment on the race Jack Sherrick replied, "Are you sure it was only 2½ miles!"



Relax buddy! You pinned him two minutes ago.

Stop! I'll take my ball and go home.



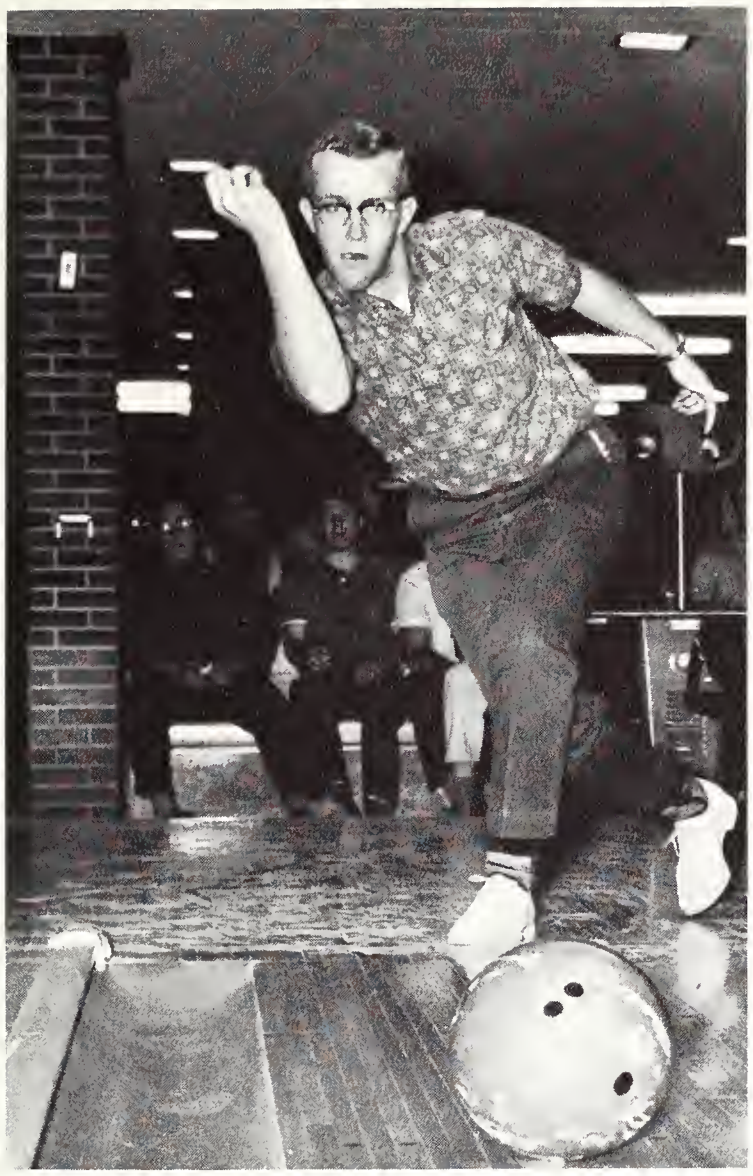
It looks like a pin in reverse.

I know it's up there someplace.

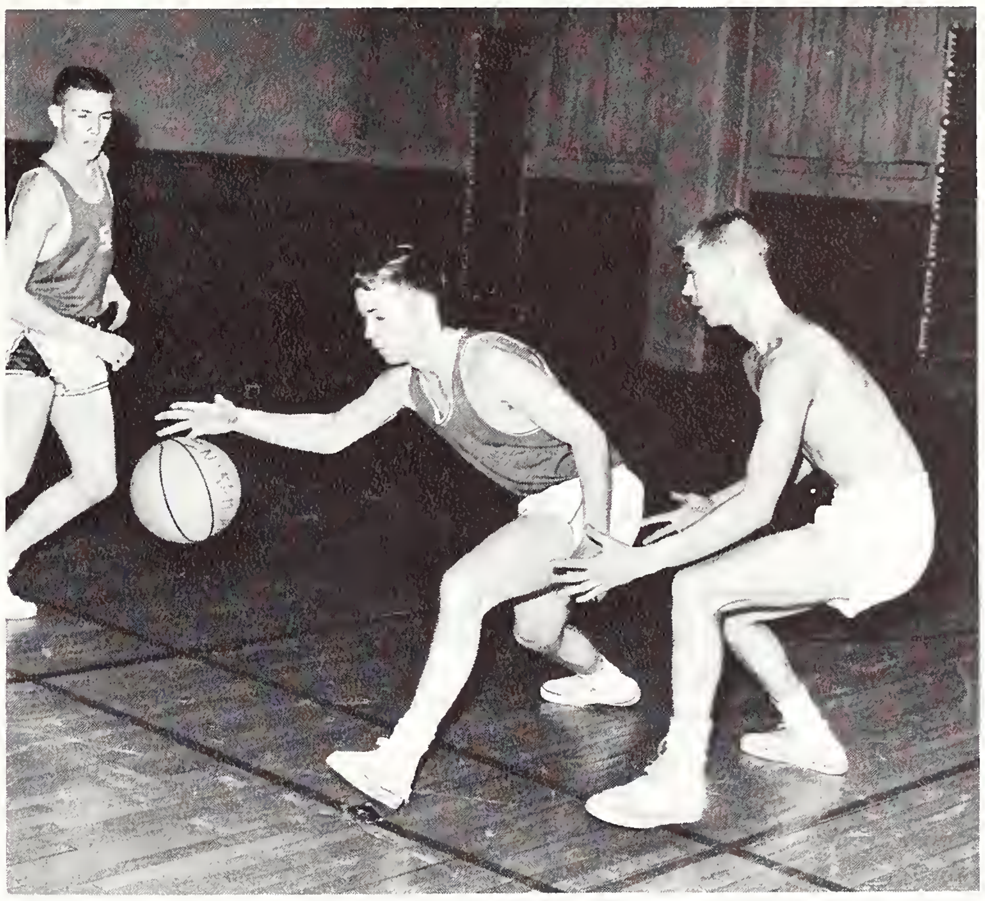
Action in the volleyball schedule saw the Sigma Nu team capture first place with a perfect 9-0 record. The next activity on the Intramural slate was the all-school wrestling tournament. Champions were crowned in each of the nine weight divisions. Sigma Alpha Epsilon came out on top in the overall standings to capture first place in the three-day meet. The basketball competition occupied most of the winter quarter with a record number of teams and men participating in the action. The Delta Sigs captured first place in the fraternity league, defeating the Sig Eps by one point in the championship game. For the first time, the two top teams in each of the four leagues met in an all-school tournament to decide the individual campus squad champion.

Looking that mean, how could he possibly miss!

And the "Mighty Casey" struck out again and the SAE's just stood and watched.



Are you just going to stand there with your tongue hanging out?



Get your . . . foot . . .

The ball! The ball! You idiot!

The overall champion of the intramural league is selected on the basis of total points won in all of the sports. With twenty points for a major sport and ten for the minor activities, the Sigma Chi's, for the sixth straight year, accumulated the highest total to once again reign as Champions for the year. Individual trophies were awarded to the winners of each activity, while the Sigma Chi's received the coveted winner's cup for their fine overall team effort.

Chet Huntley, a member of the class of 1934, has gone a long way since his role as Jimmy Ludgrove in the "Perfect Alibi," a 1932 MSC production. After taking a pre-med course for three years at Montana State College, Huntley won a National Oratory Tournament in 1932. This encouraged him to study speech and drama. In 1934, he went to work for a Seattle newspaper and worked for several radio stations in the Washington-Oregon area before he joined CBS in Los Angeles in 1951. In 1955, he joined NBC News and teamed with David Brinkley a year later. Currently he appears each weekday night on the "Huntley-Brinkley Report," each Friday night on "Chet Huntley Reporting" and on various NBC "White Paper" and special TV news programs. He also delivers a five-minute "News on the Hour" and "Emphasis" pieces over the NBC Radio Network.

Born in Montana, Huntley is an avid fisherman and farmer, and on his new farm he is planning to grow hay and to fish in one of the three streams that crosses his property. "One of them is well-stocked and I'll see to it that it stays that way," he added. But a constant demand for his services will probably deprive him of farm life. Last year he did two special news programs, and more specials this season coupled with traveling for his "Reporting" program will leave him little time for angling and little worry that his stream will be fished out.

Chet Huntley--Class of '34

Student Organizations

Leadership and organization are two of the most important facets of any group. These two qualities have helped to make the groups at MSC successful. Nothing comes from disorganization and havoc, but by getting together in the true Bobcat spirit, we have achieved many objectives. Even though at times, the outcome of some activities was uncertain, the desired goal was generally accomplished. We cannot thank any certain leader or group because all have worked together to do their part. Everyone should be proud of his efforts and continue to rise as great leaders so that they can meet any challenge confronted.

Honoraries

SEPTEMVIRI — Standing: Don Ragland, Larry LaBrant, Art Finlayson, Larry Olson, Steve Good, Bob Eagle. Seated: Jim Nordahl, President.

Honoraries are very important facets on the MSC campus. Members of the various honorary groups are those who epitomize the three essential qualities of leadership, scholarship, and service. One such honorary is Septemviri which means "seven men" and consists of the seven most outstanding men in the senior class. Adding the fourth dimension of personality in its selection, Septemviri upholds and guards the traditions of MSC and sponsors the President's Assembly. Through this group and others, we become aware of the true meaning of those three words, leadership, scholarship and service, which signify so much.

Mortar Board

Tapped at the annual spring Honors Day Assembly, the members of Mortar Board are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership and service rendered to the college. These outstanding senior women have as some of their projects the Snow Ball winter formal, graduate study programs, and visits to the two classes for retarded children in Bozeman.

Seated: Kenyon Iverson, Dave Riter, Tom Rate, Bill Barrier. Standing: Ed Shirts, Barry Berg, Joe Bortz, Erin Goosey.

Military

The pleasures and luxuries of our free society didn't just happen. They required hard work, sacrifices, and in some cases, suffering and sorrow. To insure this freedom and preserve peace are the causes to which the military man is dedicated. But even for him, the question looms: Quo vadis?

Army

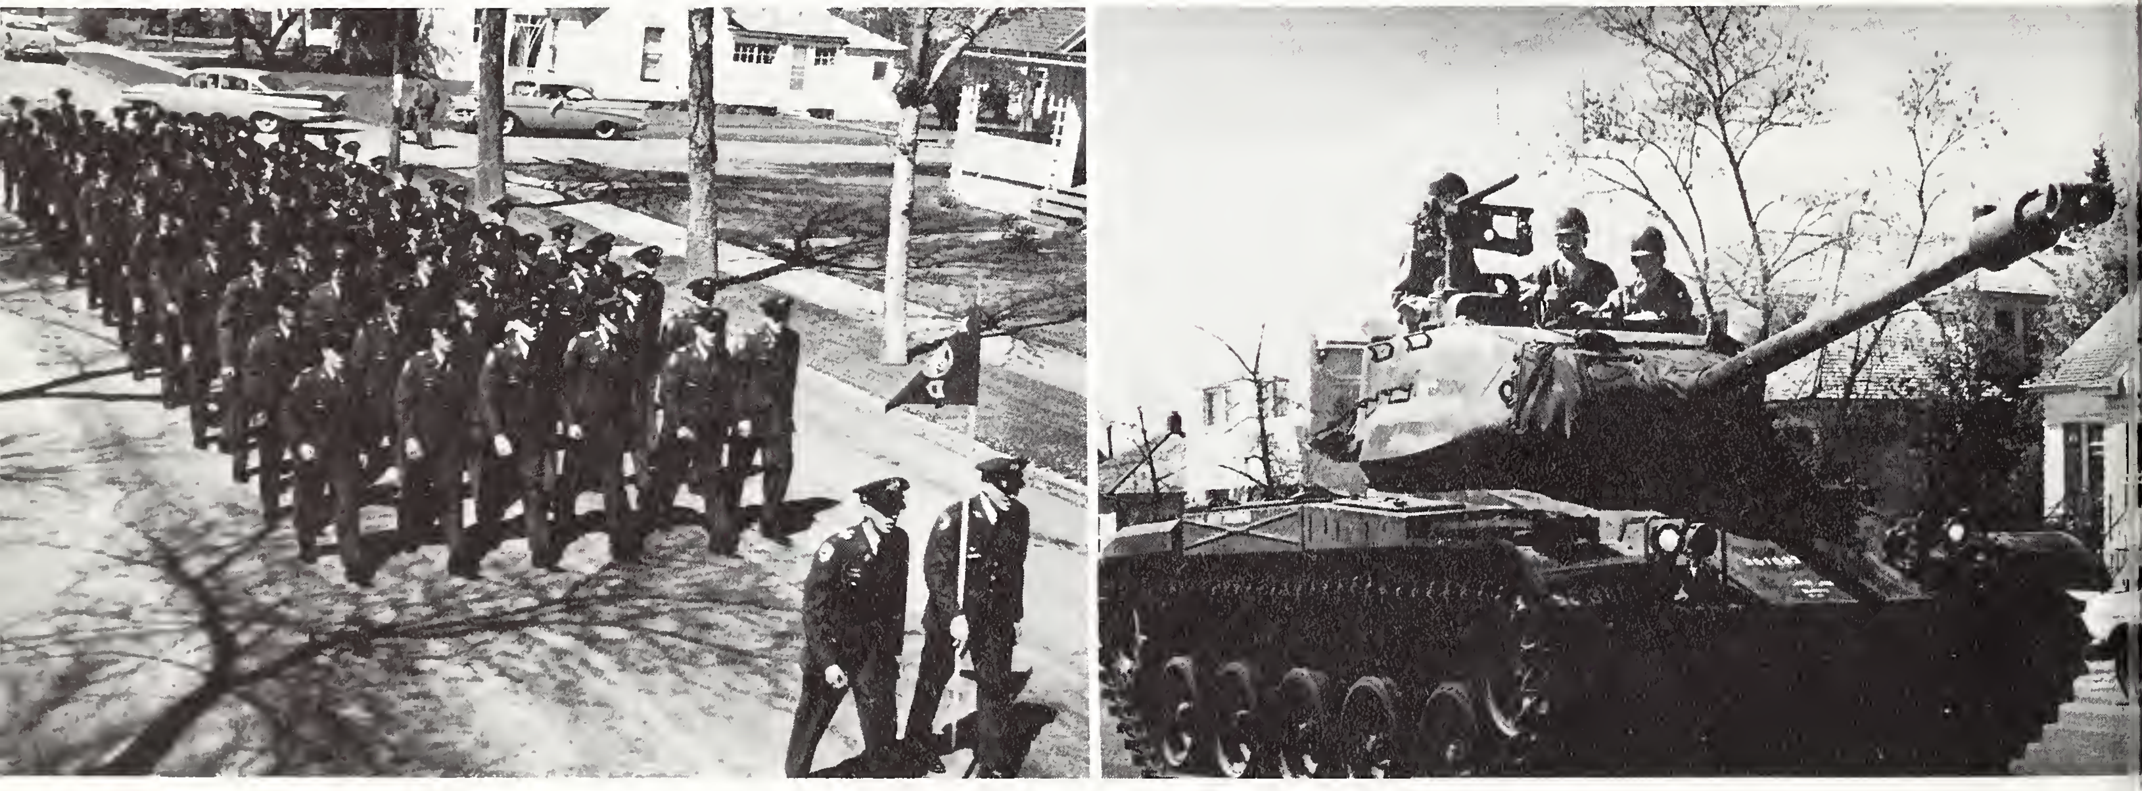
The Colonel tells a war story!

Men who choose Army ROTC to fulfill their institutional requirement are introduced to a two-year Basic Course. First year cadets study the organization of the Army, individual weapons, the U. S. Army and National Security, and gain practical experience firing a .22 caliber rifle. Second year men concentrate on U. S. military history, basic tactics, and map and aerial photograph reading. All Cadets participate in the weekly drill held during fall and spring quarters.

Hard on my knees!

Gen. McGoldrick and Cadet Worthington.



Army ROTC cadets and the National Guard participate in the Armed Forces Day Parade.

During the second year, outstanding basic cadets are chosen for the Advanced Program. Selection is based on military aptitude, leadership, and scholastic standing. As juniors, advanced cadets delve into leadership, the branches of the Army, tactics, and military teaching methods. Upon completion of the junior year, they attend summer camp. Application of tactical knowledge and practice with weapons highlight the six-week summer session.

PT tests are always fun.

Second Lieutenants

In addition to the advanced study of military subjects, senior cadets serve as cadet officers of the Bobcat Battlegroup. Upon completion of the Advanced Course, most of the men are commissioned second lieutenants in the Army Reserve. They then serve a term of active duty before returning to their hometown Reserve Unit. The Distinguished Military Graduates are given equal commissions but in the Regular Army, where most of them find career opportunities.

Cadets prepare to visit Malstrom AFB.

DMS Carson, Fulton, Cowger, Friez, Allen, and Goodykoontz are reviewed by Colonel Raggio.

Both basic and advanced cadets participate in weekly drill exercises.

The first year Air Force ROTC cadet concentrates on the elements of aerospace power, basic aeronautical science, and the organization and operation of the military arm of the Federal Government. All Basic cadets attend weekly drill for two quarters during the. year. Then as a sophomore, the student learns the fundamentals of Aerospace Weapons Systems in conjunction with the current national policy toward defense. Presentation of professional opportunities in the Air Force leads some of the cadets into the Advanced Program.

The junior cadet deals primarily with the functions and skills necessary for officer development, staff organization, and principles of leadership and military justice. Base visitations give the cadet a first-hand look at Air Force life and opportunities. During summer camp following the third year of study, cadets first become familiar with an entire air base and its functions. They are then given ample opportunity to return to the section which most interests them for more specialized training.

Cadets "reporting in" prior to leaving for summer camp.

Second Lieutenants

A survey of global relations and geography dominate the study of the senior cadet. The seniors also organize and execute the weekly drill exercises. Qualified fourth-year cadets may take preliminary flight training at the local airport and qualify for a private pilot's license. Upon graduation, cadets are commissioned as second lieutenants in the Air Force or Air Force Reserve. During their ensuing tour of duty they are given opportunity for additional specialized training and study.

Angel Flight is a society of select women students chosen on personal appearance and marching ability. Sponsored by Arnold Air Society, they are easily recognized on campus in their Air Force blue uniforms. Members of Angel Flight often serve as hostesses and guides during High School Week activities. They have performed their intricate drill maneuvers both locally and throughout the country, achieving national fame from their splendid performances.

Greeks

Woven strongly under a high code of cooperation, the fraternities and sororities at MSC are united toward common goals. Members are bound together by common ties of brotherhood, which builds their character through leadership, scholarship, social endeavors, and high moral standards. Greek living is participation in an effort to create a fuller and more purposeful college life dedicated to the progress of the individual, the group and the campus.

Greek Activities

mbassadors! Many musical groups
ake public appearances.

Competition is keen and rivalries intense during Greek Week.

Greeks and Administration working hand in hand!

It was a busy year for the fraternities and sororities on the MSC campus. Participation in homecoming activities with floats and house decorations climaxed Rush Week, traditional firesides, and the serenades of fall quarter. Service projects such as decorating the downtown business area at Christmas time built up the seasonal spirit for the annual Christmas Sing. Winter quarter brought to life snow sculptures and participation in the Winter Carnival. Pi Week was the public relations project which raised funds for the March of Dimes. Winter Formals highlighted a snowy season with the selection of each fraternity's ideal girl to reign as sweetheart. Campus elections ushered in spring quarter activities with Greek Week and the rowdy spring parties climaxing a year of intense studying. Scholastic attainment is a treasured goal of the Greek system, and each of the chapters vied among themselves for top honors in this area. A closeness and friendship among the Greek living groups characterized their united support of all MSC activities.

The crippled children got the dimes, we got the pies.

Many themes were used attempting to draw in new members.

Intramurals are an integral part.

Inter-Fraternity Council

Stan Smith
President

Co-ordination of the activities of the fraternities at MSC is the goal of the Inter-Fraternity Council. Composed of two representatives from each fraternity, the group strives to better the fraternity relations with each other and the community in general. The organization of formal rush is one of the primary duties of the group.

Alpha Gamma Delta

Boasting the newest house on campus, the members of Alpha Gamma Delta devoted a great deal of time to make this year an academic and social success. Several of the awards of AWS, including the Junior Cup of Attainment, the Pledge Scholarship Cup, and the Five-Year Speaker, were won by the energetic Alpha Gams. Members of the group could be found working on publications and several other activities. Jim Thompson was selected as Alpha Gam Man at the annual Winter party, and the year was filled with many exchange dinners and coffee hours with fraternities. The annual pop bottle drive to raise funds for children afflicted with cerebal palsy was a success.

Alpha Gamma Rho

This year the members of Alpha Gamma Rho could look back with pride at their many accomplishments. Men of the house could be found in Student Senate in the positions of Commissioners of Publications, Judging Teams, and the Student Union. AGR's could also be found editing the MONTANAN and the College Farmer, and serving as officers of many campus organizations. The local chapter also hosted the regional Officers Training School of the fraternity during the Spring vacation.

This year the men of Delta Sigma Phi showed diversified talents in the areas of student leadership, intramural sports, and social activities. Delta Sig teams were among the toughest in the various intramural leagues, capturing first place in the basketball division. Members served on Student Senate and on publications as Commissioner of Demonstrations and as Exponent business manager. The Delta Sigs worked with the local Jaycees in sponsoring the Easter egg hunt for the children of Bozeman. The annual "Playboy" party and the coronation of Margie Sarrazin as their Carnation Girl topped off a successful social year.

The recognition of Janet Hughes as one of the top ten women students at MSC when she was presented with the Herrick Award was only one of the reasons that the members of Chi Omega could look back on this year with pride. Many Chi O's could be found in the ranks of organizations and serving on the many committees which are necessary to keep the campus affairs running smoothly. In addition to academic achievements, members of this group once again reigned as Ski Queen, Pi Week Queen, and Joan Brickley was chosen as successor to Marsha Thompson as Miss Montana State College.

Sneaking Ikard, their mascot, into the SUB everyday was one of the many activities of the Kappa Sigmas. The "Spooks" as usual were active on campus, and counted two Student Senate commissioners and three organization presidents among their members. Other Kappa Sigs were working for the betterment of the campus by serving on committees and in organizations. Social activities didn't lag behind other years, and their traditional French Fireside and Stardust Ball were talked about long after the decorations were taken down. Other activities on their social calendar included ice cream parties, songfests, and toboggon parties with sororities.

This year the Delta Gammas have successfully proven their ability in all campus activities. Scholastically, the DG's have maintained their first place rank for the eighth consecutive quarter. Members were to be found in Mortar Board, Dolphins, Who's Who, and several class and residence halls offices. DG's have also reigned this year as Lambda Chi Cresent Girl, Delta Sig Carnation Girl, Sig Ep Queen of Hearts, M.R.A. Cave Girl, Harvest Ball Queen, and Sigma Chi Derby Darling. Three girls received the Harrison award; and the Delta Gamma Triple Trio made several public appearances.

This year the Lambda Chi's social calendar began with the growing of beards in preparation for Yukon Days. Throughout the year this calendar included firesides, the all sorority Halloween Party, Spring Party at Chico Hot Springs, and occasional late evening visits to the AGR house. The highpoint of their dinner dance, the White Rose Formal, was the crowning of Judee Bentzen as Lambda Chi Cresent Girl. Aside from social aspects, Lambda Chi Alpha retained its high scholastic record and also captured second place for both their Homecoming float and snow sculpture. The Lambda Chi's can boast that every man is in at least one campus activity outside the fraternity. Campus offices held this year included the President of ASMSC and the Commissioner of Athletics.

Kappa Delta

In addition to having the distinction of being the only sorority at MSC to have houseboys, the Kappa Deltas also had many social and academic accomplishments during the year. Jan Bowers won both the MSC and state "Make It With Wool" contests, and represented Montana in the national contest in Las Vegas. As in the past, a KD served on Student Senate in the position of Commissioner of Social Affairs. The sorority was well represented in campus activities, with members participating in Montanans and Student Senate Steering Committee. Several of the members were recognized for individual achievements by being chosen for such honors as Who's Who and Phi Kappa Phi.

With more than ninety per cent of its members donating blood, Phi Sigma Kappa won first place in the inter-fraternity blood drawing competition. This was typical of the spirit shown by the members of this living group during the past year. Phi Sigs could be found in many organizations on campus as they exercised their leadership. Socially, the Moonlight Ball, at which Karen Kirwen was crowned Phi Sig Moonlight Girl, was considered to be one of the best in years.

Winning sweepstakes with their Homecoming float and house decorations was one of the many thrills for the members of Pi Beta Phi this year. Besides keeping their grades near the top of the roster, they participated in the majority of college and Greek activities. At the annual Christmas Sing the Pi Phis mingled their voices with those of the SAE's, and at the Pi Phi Derby Dance Terry Mero was crowned "King of the Hill". Besides these two activities, several pledge and active functions were held with the fraternities on campus.

The men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon ended another year with many happy memories. The Pajama Dance, Sig-Alph Olympics, and Winter and Spring parties were excellent examples of SAE spirit. Once again their trusty bus, Minerva, became a familiar sight on campus. The men of the only fraternity with a full time housemother, "Mom" Orman, look forward to returning next year to a new house remodeled in the same traditional style as their present home. The members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were prominent in campus organizations as well as having class officers and commissioners on student senate.

An unforgettable and successful year for the members of Sigma Chi began in November when they staged the formal dedication of their new house. Homecoming saw the triumphant Sigs carry home the Sweepstakes; taking first place trophies with both their float and house decorations. Socially, the Sigma Chi's scored with such functions as Derby Day, the Sweetheart Ball, and the annual Christmas Party. They were active in student government with four members on Senate including the Vice President of ASMSC.

Achieving much in college activities, leadership, and service this year, Sigma Nu members hold offices in Septemviri, Les Bouffons, WUS, Fangs and student senate. They also displayed a marked social flair with both traditional, and impromptu functions. The White Rose Formal, the All Sorority Tea, Mother's Day, and frolicking firesides are some of these activities. Decorating downtown Bozeman and the county rest home for Christmas were two of the many deeds indicative of men living the "way of Honor."

Clubs

What aspects of college life does the club fulfill? A club brings together friends with the same interests and " 'tis a place where laughter, song and fun abound, where wholesomeness and health are found, where truth and honesty make real a faith in God and high ideals." — Anonymous

From church groups to agriculture, from engineering to home economics, and from architecture to art, the student finds broad fields in which to expand his knowledge and make wise use of his leisure time. Membership in clubs at MSC and applied studies in these fields develop the more well-rounded student.

Quo Vadis?

Doctor, Lawyer, Merchant, Chief — A child's nursery rhyme now takes on some real meaning. Throughout this entire publication we have asked you the question "Quo Vadis?" or "Where are you going?" We present it to you now for the last time before closing the covers of this book. Those of you who are seniors have already chosen a career; those of you who are underclassmen are working on majors or careers for tomorrow. What have you done during your tenure at MSC to prepare you for your future? Have you attempted to establish a balance between your academic or technical course work and your extra curricular activities? Some of you have successfully prepared yourselves for the future; to those of you still traveling the road to success, are you on the right trail: Are you satisfied with where you are going? Do you have purpose and reason behind you and your actions?

Up to this point we have attempted to write captions and cut lines for your pictures. At times we have tried to explain a picture seriously and with respect; at other times we have deliberately tried to be humorous.

We have written the captions for you thus far — now the challenge is yours — try to come up with meaningful captions for the pictures on this page? We offer a couple of suggestions or clues to start you thinking. The top row of pictures depict some of the opportunities or careers you may venture into; the bottom row of pictures attempts to show college life as we have witnessed it. Can you see any connection between the two rows of pictures? Could that summer job with the Ag Experiment Station, or that winning Snow Sculpture, or maybe even that physiology or international relations class you so fervently disliked yet attended, could these activities possibly be stepping stones or prerequisites to reaching goals or achievements portrayed above?

Do these pictures begin to take on special meaning? If so — then perhaps you have the ground work or basis upon which to build your future. Do you know the answer?

Where Are You Going?

Advertising And Indu

As prosperity is the keystone of the American way of life, we of the MONTANAN take this opportunity to wish our advertisers greater and greater prosperity in the years to come. We hold them to be our guiding light in our search for QUO VADIS, and seek their aid in our quest. Perhaps we may be able to assist them in their own pursuits.

Senior Summary

Dedicated to you, the Class of 1963, this monument of your achievement stands as a lasting rollbook at the culmination of your educational process. An extensive list of activities, a host of honors, or a name in the headlines all fall short as an adequate criteria of personal achievement. The society into which you are about to embark welcomes your disillusionment of experience and your quiet self-assurance of time and training, for yours is a life made rich with learning. Your new role, as potential leaders of your world, is to channel your wisdom, your enthusiasm, your freedom, and your youth to a better world. As members of the graduating class of 1963, accept the challenge and opportunity of democratic collusion, stand always for what you believe, but stand together in unification, for, "Coming together is a beginning; working together is success; keeping together is progress."

FREE ENTERPRISE

Among the principles of America is the belief in a person's right to live his own life, to speak for himself, to choose and change his leaders.

The principles can be called Free Enterprise.

Actually Free Enterprise has nothing to do with how much money you have or don't have, nor what your job is.

Free Enterprise means the right to be yourself instead of some nameless number in a horde bossed by a despot. Free Enterprise is the sum of many little things in our American way of life, such as the right to work for yourself or someone else, the right to argue or remain silent, the right to lock your door at night, the right to save money or spend it. It is a way of living in which you as an individual are important.

The Montanan

MONTANA STATE COLLEGE

STUDENT UNION BUILDING ∻ BOZEMAN, MONTANA ∻ PHONE 587-3121, EXT. 337

May 3, 1963

Dear Bobcats,

It is heartening indeed that High School Week should mark the close of the 1963 MONTANAN. For today as 700 high school students inspect our facilities and evaluate the institution we have all grown to love and respect, as they ponder into the future and ask themselves what Montana State College has to offer them, we of the '63 annual staff stop and ask ourselves some questions also. Have we met the challenge that we so eagerly accepted one year ago? Have we interpreted student opinion, desires, expectations and actions correctly? We have gone through the last year and the thousand and one tasks that make up a yearbook with you, the student, uppermost in our minds.

As these high school students open the doors to our campus buildings and wonder what awaits them inside, I hope you have also opened the covers of this book with that same inquisitive feeling. Today, as the 1963 yearbook comes to a close and the last of the years memories are recorded, the editor heaves a sigh of relief and looks forward to revealing the finished product. He knows that this book of memories will be more to you than just a record of the years events and activities. It represents many hours of work and organization. Also he recognizes that it is the fruition of efforts of many individuals not familiar to our campus, it represents the very special help of many people and especially the help of a grand staff, all working together; photographing, cutting, writing and editing.

First must come a thank you to the fellow journalists who worked so faithfully with me. To my own staff and to those on the Exponent who often helped out, my sincerest gratitude. Recognition must go to the two students without whose help this book would not have been completed—Mr. Bill Walter and Miss Gail Graham. Bill, serving in the capacity of sports editor was always available to work the graveyard shift. It was his ability as a writer, typist, humorist and general counsellor that got us through the many long nights and vacation periods and enabled us to meet those inexorable deadlines. As associate editor, Gail took care of the annoying, time consuming details that are often overlooked. An editor is fortunate when he can work with people of this caliber.

To the Wheelwright Lithographing Company of Salt Lake City, we owe a special thanks. It has been their efforts and craftsmanship that gave this publication status. To Norma Burnham, manager of the Wheelwright Yearbook Department, we give a heartfelt thank you; she always gave us more than we asked for and we asked for a great deal.

Two photographers are deserving of special attention. Leo Jones, our student photographer, was always available when many others were not. Chris Schlechten, our local photographer, made that extra little effort needed to give us the new and improved Royalty section. Thanks are due both of these men for giving much more than we expected.

We have made every effort to serve you, yet the real "Thank You" must be from us to you. It was you the student who created a need for an annual and it was also you and our local advertisers that made it financially possible. To the Student Senate which appropriates your funds we all owe a vote of confidence for it was their farsightedness that enabled us to improve and make the changes you see herein. We hope you will agree that it is a progressive change.

To a man known by very few MSC students I pay my last tribute. Mr. Ed Rogers, as Dean of Men at a small ag college in Alberta, gave many students inspiration and the desire to acquire a college education. It was in his class that the Quo Vadis theme of this book originated. Little did he realize that a quotation of his would lie dormant for years and then become the central theme of this annual. Mr. Rogers is no longer at the same school but to the men he worked with he will always exemplify those characteristics of manhood that he strove so hard to instill in us.

As you read this book again and again, please keep in mind that an editor is not infallible. Some pictures may have been left out, we may not have covered a certain activity or a comma might have been omitted; I'm sure even other faults might be found. Accept my apologies but the best of men make at least one mistake so a MONTANAN editor is bound to make many. When you spot the inevitable error, let us know. Today's criticism is tomorrow's progress.

This past year has been a wonderful experience—one that can be acquired in no other way; an experience that I would not wish on anyone else and yet, with this I say to you Bobcat fans, "Thanks" for the opportunity to serve you—it has been frustrating but most rewarding. I would not trade it for love, money, high stature or better grades.

Your editor,

Steve

STEVE HADNAGY

Whither Goest Thou ?

WHERE ARE # YOU GOING?

It's been a good year, hasn't it? Living facilities expanded, educational facilities were improved, a new athletic conference was adopted, and the male-female ratio was lower than ever. There have been many events that will live in our memories forever, some of them good — some of them not so good.
We hope that we have captured a few of these moments.
We also hope to have stimulated some serious thought on your part.
Remember, college only lasts for a little while.
Where will you be ten years from now? QUO VADIS ?
Reflect on this point as you close the covers of this book.
Where are you going?
